GIVE AWAY MILLIONS "SELFISHLY." Wealthy independent oil operator Hugh Roy Cullen and his wife of Houston, Tex., are giving away an estimated $160,000,000 because, according to them, they "selfishly" want to see their wealth put to use while they are alive. At first they estimated the gift at $80,000,000 but later doubled it. Their gift—many million barrels of oil—goes to Texas educational, medical and charitable institutions. ## "Selfish" Oil Man Doubles $80,000,000 Donation To Charity

By The Associated Press

HOUSTON, Tex., March 29—The "selfish" Houston multimillionaire who originally planned to donate $80,000,000 to charity had doubled his estimate of the gift making the total $160,000,000.

H. R. Cullen, Texas oilman, who was paid $3 a week at the age of 12, rechecked the figures on his vast oil field properties yesterday and estimated yield at some 80,000,000 barrels. The current price is $2.10 per barrel.

Cullen announced the gift Thursday night, as he addressed a meeting of the Texas Hospital association. He based the value then on a yield of 40,000,000 barrels.

Cullen said a foundation would be organized to aid educational, medical and charitable institutions from monies derived from the sale of oil on his lands.

He had declared he and his wife were "selfish people" because they wanted to see their money spent during their lifetime.

The bequest is the largest ever made in Texas and second only to the rich Rockefeller Foundation, the nation's largest.

A native of Texas, Cullen entered the oil business in 1917.

NAVY SETS SPRING CRUISE IN EUROPE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 29—The Navy announced today it will send two new battleships and two new large carriers to northern European waters in June on the first training cruise for U. S. naval academy midshipmen since the beginning of World War II.

Admiral Richard L. Conolly, commander of U. S. naval forces in the eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean, identified the battleships as the New Jersey and Wisconsin, and the carriers as the Essex class Kearsarge and Randolph. They will be accompanied by the destroyers Cone, Stribling, O'Hare and Meredith, and the Landing Ship (dock) Fort Mandan.

Conolly said the itinerary for the cruise has not been completed, but that the ships "are expected to visit several of the northern European countries including the British Isles."

The squadron will arrive in European waters about June 19, and start back to the United States approximately one month later.

In addition to the approximately 2,100 Annapolis midshipmen, about 200 members of the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corp now enrolled in various colleges throughout the country will go on the cruise.

Rear Admiral John Perry will command the squadron.

Co-ed To Plead Insanity In Murder of Parents

By The Associated Press

SANTA ANA, Calif., March 29—Plans for Louise Overell, blond 17-year-old heiress, to enter a plea of innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to the charge that she and her fiance murdered the girl's parents have been disclosed by Defense Attorney Otto Jacobs.

Jacobs told a reporter that this will be the plea if the University of Southern California freshman is ordered to stand trial in superior court with her sweetheart, George Gollum, 21, a pre-medical student.

TAFT APPEARS "IN" FOR 1948

Washington Conference Seen Settling on Senator as Ohio's Candidate.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 29—Ohio's favorite son candidate for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination apparently is to Senator Robert A. Taft.

Ohio Republican leaders, several of them reported privately, agreed last night at a dinner at the Taft home to give him their solid support.

Among those at the dinner was Ohio's other presidential possibility, Senator John W. Bricker.

Reports have been current for several months that Bricker planned to step aside in favor of Taft and thus assure the latter of solid Ohio Republican support. Neither Taft nor Bricker has confirmed such reports.

Taft sought the presidential nomination in 1940 when it went to the late Wendell W. Willkie. In 1944 he supported Bricker, who was nominated for vice president on a ticket headed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

The dinner at Taft's home was arranged in connection with a visit to Washington of Gov. Thomas J. Herbert and Republican State Chairman Fred Johnson.

Besides Gov. Herbert, Johnson, Taft and Bricker, those present at the dinner included representatives Brown, Jenkins and Bender; John Marshall, former assistant state attorney general; Paul Walters, Cleveland; Ben Tate, Cincinnati; former Rep. John Hollister, Cincinnati, and Thomas Powers, brother-in-law of Taft.

Taft was expected to withhold announcement of his candidacy until after adjournment of congress.

BILL EXTENDING CURB ON RUBBER APPROVED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 29—President Truman today signed legislation extending government controls over the use and production of rubber until March 31, 1948.

The measure also ends government purchasing of natural rubber at midnight, Monday.

It thus restores the natural rubber trade to private industry, removing it from the hands of the Reconstruction Finance Corp., which was sole purchaser and seller throughout the war.

The bill is designed to keep the synthetic rubber industry going until congress fixes a permanent rubber policy for the national defense.

Control over domestic allocation and use of both natural and synthetic rubber is retained, in order to insure against individual companies acquiring and hoarding the still-scarce material to the detriment of other users.

The controls also insure that sufficient amounts of synthetic are used in tires and other products to keep the $800,000,000 government-owned synthetic rubber industry on a going basis.

100 TO 1 SHOT WINS BRITISH STEEPLECHASE

Irish Outsider Comes from Behind To Take Grand National.

By The Associated Press

AINTREE, ENGLAND, March 29—A 100 to 1 Irish outsider, eight-year-old Caughoo, dropped "out of the clouds" in the rain and mud of Aintree's fierce jumping course today to come from far back and win the 103rd running of the Grand National Steeplechase by 20 lengths.

Overhauling the faltering leaders and favorites only in the final half-dozen of the 30 jumps over this toughest race course in the world, the gelded son of Within-The-Law came surging up to the gold and glory of this century-old classic—but in the slowest time in half-a-century, 10:41 1/5.

His nearest rival at the wire was the Irish bred, 33 to 1 "dark horse" Lough Conn, who led most of the way 'round until Caughoo turned loose his finishing kick after never having received a call through the running of this grueling 4 miles, 856 yards. Then came the French hope, Kami, only recently sold to Sir Alan Gordon-Smith.

Favorite Out of Money

In fourth place and out of the money was the mighty Prince Regent—a severe shock to the thousands who had backed him in favorite's role at 8 to 1, and the hundreds more throughout the world who held tickets on him in the Irish Hospital sweepstakes and already were dreaming of the rainbow's end.

Winding up a surprising good seventh after his three mediocre races since coming to this country, was Refugio, the lone American hope in the field of 57—largest in 18 years—only 23 of whom completed the course. The California-bred grey galloper from the barn of Mrs. Frank Adams of Middleburg Va., was rated among the rank outsiders at 100 to 1. But his jockey, 19-year-old Frank (Dooley) Adams, son of the owner, said the refugee from the claiming ranks of Mexico's Tijuana tracks "jumped like a stag."

"He was good for four miles," Dooley explained, "but he just didn't have it on the run home."

Clears Feared Jump

Adams' eyes widened as he reported how Refugio cleared the feared Becher's brook jump "by a foot."

The rain and the gooey going obviously had a marked effect on the horses—especially those heavily-weighted, such as Prince Regent with his 175-pound load—but did not deter Britain's thousands who annually look on the Aintree pilgrimage as an institution. From almost daybreak, they poured by the hundred and thousand, into this spacious layout near Liverpool and it was estimated a probable-record throng of more than 300,000 saw the race—or that part of it visible through the mist.

It was a great day for the Irish, this 103rd running of the National. Not only are Caughoo, Lou Conn and Prince Regent—three of the first four finishers—all Irish bred, but the winner was piloted by Jockey E. Dempsey, an Irish lad who never had ridden the Aintree course before.

Owner Also Irish

And Caughoo's owner, who collected the close-to-$40,000 victory pot, is a Dublin jeweler—a 37-year-old bachelor who admits he always fancied Caughoo because he's such a good jumper and has never fallen."

Rounding out the Irish "family" was trainer Herbert McDowell,

Chas. H. Conley Taken by Death

Long Illness Fatal to Attorney and Former Justice of the Peace.

Charles H. Conley, 73, descendant of pioneer residents of Marion county and for many years a prominent figure in the city's legal and fraternal life, died at 6 p. m. yesterday at his home at 411 South State street following a prolonged illness. A former justice of the peace and an attorney here for many years, he retired from the practice of law in 1938, due to ill health. Death was caused by apoplexy.

Mr. Conley was a lifelong resident of Marion. Following his graduation from Marion High school in 1894 he entered Ohio State university to study law, later transferring to the Cincinnati law school where he was graduated in June of 1897. The following September he established a law office with Fred W. Peters on South Main street. His appointment as a justice of the peace followed the death of Justice George McKinley, a position he held for many years.

Fraternally he was affiliated with the Masonic bodies and held membership in Marion Lodge No. 32, B. P. O. Elks and Canby Lodge No. 51, Knights of Pythias. A member of Marion Lodge No. 70, F. and A. M. he was one of the youngest masters of that organization, serving in that capacity in 1908 at the age of 34. He also served as master of Marion Council No. 22, R. & S. M. in 1908 and 1909 and was a member of Marion chapter No. 62, R. A. M., Kadgar Grotto and Lydia Chapter No. 83, Order of the Eastern Star. As one of the organizers of Marion Chapter No. 288, Order of DeMolay, he served as the first "Dad" of the organization, a position he held for many years. In recognition of his service and interest in DeMolay Mr. Conley was presented the Cross of Honor by the Grand Council of DeMolay. Interested in civic affairs, he was active in the organization of the Junior Chamber of Commerce which took place in his office 18 years ago. He was a member of the Marion County Bar association and his legal fraternity was Phil Delta Phi.

Born Feb. 1, 1874 in Marion county, he was the son of Edmund Conley, a native of Barre Forge, Pa., and Jane Ann Ballantine Conley, whose birthplace was Marion county. His marriage was to Miss Jessie I. Jones on

4,000 GERMAN MINERS STRIKE

Ruhr Coal Diggers Walk Out in Protest Over Skimpy Food.

By The Associated Press

ESSEN, Germany, March 29—Four thousand Ruhr coal miners at Dortmund struck today in the latest German demonstration against short food rations.

It was the first such action since unrest over the food situation developed several days ago.

Hunger strikes and marches by an estimated 500,000 persons have taken place here in the last two days and an angry demonstration occurred yesterday at Duesseldorf, where crowds upset and stoned British military vehicles.

There are approximately 250,000 coal miners in the Ruhr valley.

The North German control office here said four mines were affected by the Dortmund walkout.

The miners announced they would return to work Monday, but said that if no improvement in their food ration was seen by that time they would walk out again.

The strike occurred as other residents of Dortmund paraded the city's streets demanding more food.

The demonstrators, numbering about 2,000, sent deputations to both German and British municipal authorities, demanding that the food ration of 1,550 calories per person per day be fulfilled.

They claimed they had been receiving hardly two-thirds of the official ration. The officials made no specific promises but said they were hopeful more food would be available soon

British officials said the demonstrators were orderly and that the deputations presented their demands without bitterness.

Workers in virtually every city in the Ruhr area now have gone on record with complaints against food and housing conditions. Thus far there have not been any repeat performances in any city.

JEWS CAN SERVE ALL MANKIND, RABBI SAYS

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, March 29—Liberal Judaism and the opportunity to serve mankind through cooperation with liberal Christianity provide American Jews with "two great reasons for optimism despite the recent discouraging years," Dr. Allan Tarshish of Hazelton, Pa., declared today.

Dr. Tarshish, rabbi of the Beth Israel congregation in Hazelton, spoke at founder's day exercises at Hebrew Union college celebrating the 127th anniversary of the birth of Rabbi Isaac Mayer Wise, reformed Jewish leader who pioneered in the development of the college.

In a prepared address, he said that while "atomic bomb scientists are pleading with religion to save the world from the fearful agents of mass death which they have created * * * this is not the time when the Jews should turn from their greatest strength and also ignore the hands of liberals of other faiths. * * *"

"This is the time," he continued, "to pick up the mantle of Isaac Mayer Wise and use the great spiritual force of America and American Judaism to achieve our success.

"For American Judaism is coming of age. The great institutions which Wise created have been augmented by many others. Here live more than half of the Jews of the world and most of its great Jewish scholars, most of whom we have inherited from Europe. Despite the faults of American Jewish life, there is boundless virility here that can be developed as the great heart of Judaism, set in a new pattern of liberal Judaism, aided by liberal Christian and liberal American social thinking. * * *

UAW LEADERS DENY RED HOLD

Take Issue with Witness Who Charged Communist Domination.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, March 29—Top leaders of the CIO United Auto Workers took sharp issue today with Michigan Governor Kim Sigler's testimony that the Communist party has gained "absolute control of certain unions."

Sigler's remarks yesterday before the house committee on un-American activities were described by UAW President Walter P. Reuther as "part of the current all-out drive which organized reaction has launched against labor and liberal forces in this country."

Vice President R. J. Thomas and Secretary Treasurer George F. Addes, two of the three UAW high officials who Sigler testified were "captives of the Communist party in the United States," had quick denials to the charges.

Addes, who said he spoke for both, called the Republican governor's statement a "falsehood" which apparently was obtained from "poisoned sources." There was no personal comment from Richard C. Leonard, UAW vice president and the third member of the trio attacked by Sigler.

Reuther, known in the UAW as opposed to Communist influence within his union, criticized the governor's remarks and said he would fight "Republican party interference in our internal affairs."

"The CIO opposes Communist interference in our union, and I stand foresquare for that policy," the UAW chief declared.

"But handling of that problem is an internal union concern and we are just as vigorously opposed to Republican party influence in our internal affairs."

CAREY, March 29—This Wyandot county town of 3,000 was without electricity all this morning when high winds blew down several blocks of main power lines about 6:30.

Municipal service department crews were out all morning and power was resumed shortly after 11. They were aided by employes of the Ohio Power Co. and the Carey Electric Telephone Co. The power system is municipally owned.

City Manager W. J. Heard said that although the high power lines were down in several blocks in the town, no property damage or personal injuries had been reported

5 BUSINESS HOUSES LOOTED IN GALION

Special to The Star

GALION, March 29—Five business establishments here were broken into and over $300 in cash and merchandise taken last night in a series of breakins in the central and western part of the city.

Entered were Monroe's laundry, the Galion Equity Exchange, the Flick-Bollerer Lumber Co. and the Bert Wilson Printing Co. in the central part of the city and Baehr's filling station on the city's west side.

Largest theft, approximately $250 in cash and merchandise including candy and cigarets, was reported at Baehr's filling station. Attendants said the station had been entered by breaking a window in the back part of the building.

At least $30 was taken at Monroe's laundry, where intruders pried open a money box in an unlocked safe. Officials at the laundry said damage to three doors which were smashed open to get into the office amounted to more damage than the money taken.

At the Bert Wilson Printing Co., located near the laundry, an estimated [illegible] was taken from a safe after [illegible] had forced open a win[illegible]

END OF 1948 SET AS DATE

Suggestion Comes as Big Four Agrees To Tackle Heart of German Problem.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 29—Britain proposed tonight to the Soviet Union, France and the United States that all prisoners of war be returned to Germany by the end of 1948.

This action was disclosed as the foreign ministers council decided to come to grips Monday with the key questions of German economic, military and political problems, in line with Secretary of State Marshall's plan to complete discussion of these matters by Wednesday night.

The British recommended that France, Russia, Britain and the United States furnish to the Allied control council for Germany not later than June 1, 1947, their plans for repatriation of the prisoners, including provisions "whereby such repatriation would be completed by Dec. 31, 1948.

Russia Holds Most

Russia holds more prisoners than any of the other nations.

An authorized source, meanwhile, said talks were taking place between Soviet and British officials concerning revision of the British-Soviet alliance, but that no concrete developments were expected for some time. The discussions grew out of the talk Monday between British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Prime Minister Stalin.

In a one-hour session, the shortest of this conference thus far, the ministers agreed on a schedule for the German discussions and set up a special committee to attempt to draw up a directive on the lesser problems of the report of the Allied control council for Germany.

Agreed Agenda

The agreed agenda for Monday, summing up three weeks of proposals made thus far, was:

1. Germany as an economic unit, including reparations; plus a review of the levels of industry, including industrial demilitarization.

2. The form and scope of a provisional German government.

The special committee will be composed of:

For the British, Lt. Gen. Sir Brian Robertson.

For the Americans, Secretary of State Marshall's economic advisor, Edward S. Mason, former economics professor at Harvard university.

For the French, Herve Alphand.

For the Russians, Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky.

To Discuss Disagreements

This committee will discuss disagreements contained in the Allied control council report, other than the main subjects, which are being taken up by the foreign ministers themselves.

The secondary subjects include denazification, territorial questions, internal matters, demilitarization and democratization.

The committee was ordered to report back by April 3.

The three major open questions on the treaty are the issues of German assets, frontiers, and compensation to United Nations from property losses due to the war.

In the meeting of the deputies on Germany, meanwhile, a spokesman for the small western nations [illegible] charged that the big powers had failed to live [illegible]

Palm Sunday services at the Salvation Army citadel will be conducted by Colonel Bertram Rodda, world traveler and student of international affairs and Brigadier Harold Zealley. Music will be furnished by an instrumental sextet from Cincinnati.

Brigadier Zealley, divisional commander of the Salvation Army with headquarters in Cincinnati, will be in charge of the meeting and Colonel Rodda will be the guest speaker for the service to be held at 10:45 o'clock Sunday morning. They will come to Marion from Springfield where tonight they will attend a musical festival held by the Salvation Army and Sunday at 2:30 p. m. will attend an anniversary meeting at the citadel in Bucyrus. Sunday night they will be in Findlay for a meeting.

Serves Eastern States

Col. Rodda is chief secretary for the Salvation Army's work throughout the Eastern states. His experience has been somewhat unique in that his Salvation Army service has repeatedly taken him abroad, crossing the ocean about 20 times to missions of interest and importance.

Col. Rodda was born in the Channel Islands and following his college work immediately entered Salvation Army service. His parents were among the pioneers of the Salvation Army in the British Isles, prior to their transfer to the United States of America in 1907.

Col. Rodda has had command of the Salvation Army's work in Eastern, Southern, and Midwestern States. His last American appointment was that of field secretary for the Salvation Army's work in the middle west. He has also had assignments as editor in chief of Salvation Army publications, principal of Officers' Training College, men's social service work, and was one of the two first officers who went to France with the American Troops during the World War I.

Specializes in Radio

He has specialized in the radio field and has represented the National Broadcasting Co. in all parts of the world. He has broadcast on more than 1,000 occasions. He has addressed Rotary clubs in more than 40 countries, both in the Far East, continental Europe, the British Isles, and all parts of North America.

During his special assignments abroad he has interviewed statesmen of international repute and is recognized as an authority on international trends. He also has the distinction of being the first Salvation Army officer admitted into Russia since the Soviet revolution.

Dual Jet Motor Speeds Of 1,500 Miles Seen

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND March 29 — Jet engines of two distinct types, coupled together, may propel aircraft of the future to speeds of 1,500 miles per hour, a Cleveland research expert contends.

Features of this recently-developed high speed combination—called a turbo-ram-jet—were disclosed last night at a session of the Institute for Aeronautical Sciences. The engine consists of a ram-jet located in the tail pipe of a turbo-jet.

Popularly known as the "flying stove pipe," the ram jet is incapable of operation at take-off speeds and must move at supersonic speeds in order to function.

Union Good Friday Services To Be Held at Calvary Church

Services throughout Holy week will be held by various Marion congregations in observance of Christ's suffering and his death on the cross, culminating in services Good Friday. A union three-hour worship service has been arranged by the Marion County Ministerial association beginning Friday noon at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church. Some churches will have services each night, while others have planned services for the latter part of the week only. There will be Holy Thursday communion rites. Guest ministers will speak at some services.

Lenten vesper services and Holy communion will be held Thursday night in Emanuel Lutheran church. Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor, will speak on "If He Be Christ, the Chosen of God." His subject Good Friday night will be "If Thou Be Christ."

Communion Served

A candlelight communion service will be held in First Presbyterian church Thursday night.

Holy communion will be observed at First Evangelical and Reformed church Thursday night.

Preparatory to taking Maundy Thursday communion and Easter communion in Salem Evangelical and Reformed church, there will be a service at the church Thursday night for those wishing to partake of either Lord's supper rite.

Rev. Lowell G. McCoy, a returned Navy chaplain and an instructor in speech at Ohio State university, will preach at a service in Epworth Methodist church Wednesday night, preparatory to the communion service which will be held Thursday night.

Three services will be held in Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church, Tuesday through Thursday nights. Rev. R. W. Faulkner, pastor, will speak on "Awake! Arise!" "Living Love," and "Sin Laid on Jesus."

Thursday Communion

Thursday night, a service of candlelight communion will be held in Trinity Baptist church. There will be a midweek service Wednesday night, and a Good Friday service to close the Holy week services.

St. Paul's English Lutheran church will have a Holy Thursday service Thursday night, and a Good Friday service the next night at the church.

Beginning Tuesday night, Forest Lawn Presbyterian church will have a series of services with a message by the pastor, Rev. L. V. Bauguess, each night. The sacrament of the Lord's supper will be administered Good Friday night and there will be reception of new members.

Each night next week, beginning tomorrow, there will be Holy week services in First Church of the Brethren. Rev. E. M. Hertzler, pastor, has chosen his subjects as follows: "Must God Be Ashamed of Us?"; "We Learn God's Will by Doing It"; "Abundant Life Through Jesus Christ Our Lord"; "Sharing Our Lord's Passion"; "Experiencing Life's Central Test"; and "Those Crosses on Golgotha Hill."

Theme for services in Prospect Street Methodist church Tuesday through Thursday nights will be "Going His Way," and will include, for the individual services, "In Worship," "In Service," and "In Communion." A candlelight communion service will be held Thursday night.

At Central Christian church Thursday evening at 8 the annual candlelight communion service will be held. This service is in commemoration of the first Lord's supper in the "upper room." The choir under the direction of George Lane will sing "The Crucifixion" by Wilson.

Following the communion service, the sacrament of Christian baptism will be administered.

Holy week services will be held in Wesley Methodist church each evening beginning Sunday at 7:30. Special music will be a feature of the services and a meditation will be given each evening by the pastor on the following subjects: "Walking With Jesus on the Day of His Triumph"; "Walking With Jesus on the Day of His Authority"; "Walking With Jesus on the Day of His Controversy"; "Walking With Jesus on the Day of His Fellowship"; "Walking With Jesus on the day of His Suffering."

Pre-Easter service Wednesday night in Emmanuel Baptist church will include a talk by Dr. C. E. Hershey, pastor, on "It Was Calvary," and special music. The weekly prayer service of the congregation will be held at 7:15 in the prayer rooms of the church, while the special service will be at 7:30.

AIRPORT PROGRESS REPORTED TO GROUP

Aviation Committee in Session at Hotel Harding.

Reports on the progress of Marion's proposed municipal airport on a 644-acre tract in the Scioto Ordnance Plant area were heard when the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee met Friday noon in Hotel Harding.

Attending the meeting were Mayor Harry L. Dowler and Safety-Service Director E. O. Uncapher. Mr. Uncapher outlined the progress made by the Clark-Hickey Co. of Chicago, Ill., engineering firm employed to draw up plans for the airport. The plans still are in the preliminary stage, although maps and charts of the area have been drawn.

Louis E. Michel, Chamber secretary, presented pictures and diagrams of the Northrop Pioneer, the 33-passenger plane which the Trans-Ohio Airlines, Inc., proposes to use on its Toledo to Huntington, W. Va., route through Marion. Civil aeronautics examiners have recommended the Trans-Ohio line but have failed to recommend proposals by Eastern Airlines Inc. and United Airlines Inc. for routes through Marion. Final decision on the air routes rests with the civil areonautics board in Washington.

The Northrop Pioneer, Mr. Michel explained, is a three engine plane with a maximum capacity of 33 passengers. When carrying 29 passengers it has additional space for cargo and mail

COOLER NETMEN TO ENGAGE PARENT CLUB

It'll be a family quarrel when the Universal Cooler Division of International Detrola sends a cage contingent against the Detrola Radio division from Detroit tonight at 8 o'clock at Prospect gymnasium.

Rivalry between the two divisions started last year. The locals downed the Detroit gang twice and one game has been played this season with Detroit getting partial revenge with a 66 to 40 win. Tonight they will be out to even the score.

According to Dan Weary, of the Cooler personnel department, this year's Radio division club is vastly superior to that they floored last season. A couple of players who made the Michigan All-State high school team last year have been added, he says.

Weary helped transport the locals to Detroit for their last game. According to him a five foot eight Detroit player, Megezian, caused the most trouble for Marion in the last contest. He tallied 22 points and was all over the floor.

The game is being played in Prospect because it was unable to find a suitable place to stage it locally.

Bucyrus Corps To Mark Anniversary

Book Reviewer To Appear On Program Tuesday

"EAST RIVER," a novel of Twentieth Century New York by Sholem Asch, will be reviewed by Mrs. Aileen Benninghoff of Rocky River at the monthly program meeting of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs Tuesday night. The program is scheduled for 8 o'clock in the ballroom at Hotel Harding. Music will include a group of vocal numbers by Mrs. Earl N. Hale.

Mrs. Benninghoff, one of Cleveland's best known professional book reviewers, averages about 10 speaking engagements a week before clubs, church groups and P.-T. A's. Many of her reviews are given at benefits and proceeds of her talks before college clubs have gone into scholarship and building funds. A kindergarten teacher before her marriage, Mrs Benninghoff became a professional book reviewer 15 years ago. She dramatizes her stories for adults as she formerly did for her small pupils.

To round out her annual repertory of 25 books she has to read about 250 and in acting out the story of a book she often has to use one or more dialects. In addition to her book reviews she is active in civic work. She is a member of the Rocky River Red Cross and in the Red Cross speakers bureau. She was in the original Gray Ladies' class and has done 450 hours of USO work. T Brecksville Veterans' hospital has had her services for four years.

ASHLEY GIRL WINS FIRST IN CONTEST

Miss Arlene Davis Tops Declamation Division.

A Delaware county girl, Miss Arlene Davis of Ashley, won first place in the class C oratorical declamation division in the state finals for individual orations in the thirty-fourth annual Ohio high school speech league tournaments held Friday at Derby hall on the Ohio State university campus, according to an associated Press dispatch. She competed with six other contestants in the same division for the honor.

Miss Davis, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Davis of Ashley, is a junior in the Ashley High school

Other individual divisions were on dramatic declamation, extemporaneous speaking, humorous declamation and original oratory.

BIG FOUR

lack of accomplishment continued —and they saw good reason to think it would—then he probably would move to break off negotiations — aimed at peace treaties with Germany and Austria—and go home toward the middle of April. If prospects of doing something constructive brighten, he was reported willing to remain a reasonable time.

Chances of making real advances in the major task of restoring Germany as a unified nation dimmed last night when disclosure of a previously secret report of the ministers' coordinating committee revealed that the powers—the U. S., Britain, France and Russia—had reached only a few agreements in principle on relatively minor German questions and that conflicts had hardened on such things as reparations and economic unity.

Projects Discussed At 4-H Meeting

Selection of club projects was discussed Friday night when 4-H club boys of Big Island township met in the community house. Ten boys, their advisor, Carl Seiter, and County 4-H Club Advisor Lloyd Lutz were present. Next meeting will be April 21.

Meeker 4-H club boys met Thursday afternoon in Meeker school to discuss club activities for the year. Twenty-seven boys, including 10 new members were present. Club advisor is Kenneth Coon. Next meeting will be held in the school April 10.

Richland township boys will meet Tuesday evening in the home of their advisor, Merle Reuhrmund, for a discussion of club projects. There were eight boys in the Richland township club last year.

MASON SPEAKS IN KENTUCKY

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 29—In an address to the Kentucky Broadcasters association last night, Robert T Mason, manager of radio station WMRN at Marion, O., said that he had yet to hear on any radio station the "lurid details of a Black Dahlia case or description of pictures and pornographic writings about sex murders." He described radio as "our most ethical medium of expression"

HOUSE NEAR EDISON DESTROYED BY FIRE

Family Routed at Night; Possessions Burned.

Special to The Star

EDISON, March 29—A family of the Edison community, Mr. and Mrs. Don Seigfried and three children, whose home was destroyed by fire early yesterday, are taking refuge with parents of Mrs. Seigfried, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Fissell of west of here today. None of the furnishings of the home, on the Watson farm a half mile north of Edison, except the gas range and toys, and no clothing with the exception of what the family donned hurriedly, was saved.

Mrs. Seigfried said she was awakened about 1:30 a. m. by the crackling of flames in a room below which the family was sleeping. Mr. Seigfried drove to the home of a neighbor, Guy Hildebrand, and called the Edison fire department which battled the blaze until water from a well and a cistern was exhausted and the firefighting had to be abandoned. It is thought that the fire started from electric wiring and that it had started probably two hours before being discovered. Mrs. Eva Potts, owner of the house, estimated her loss at $5,000, partially covered by insurance

Besides Mr and Mrs Seigfried there are two daughters, about five and a half and three and a half years old, and a son, nearly a year old. Mr. Seigfried is a truck driver, hauling stone and lime for a Marion company. Since the fire some assistance has been given the family by the Red Cross.

Rites for Recluse's Brother Set Tuesday

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 29—A funeral service for Homer Collyer, 65, blind and crippled brother of the still missing Langley Collyer, has been set for 3 p. m. Tuesday at a Manhattan funeral home

"Only relatives will be admitted to the service," John R. McMullen, lawyer for the brothers, said last night.

Burial will be in the family plot in Cypress Hills cemetery, Brooklyn.

Homer was found dead of natural causes a week ago yesterday in the one-time mansion on upper Fifth avenue where he and Langley, now 61, retired from the world almost four decades ago.

The long search through the litter was called off yesterday afternoon by order of Public Administrator Francis J. Mulligan shortly after he was appointed temporary administrator of the Collyer estate in a decree signed by Surrogate James A. Delehanty.

C. H. CONLEY

June 16, 1897 at Huntington, Ind. She survives with three children, Miss Elizabeth L. Conley, a teacher at Central Junior High school, Miss Marian I Conley, a member of the staff at Harding High school, both at home, and Robert E. Conley of 466 Forest street.

Mr. Conley's ancestors were among the early settlers of Marion county. His great-grandfather, Ebenezer Ballantine, and his grandfather, John Ballantine, came to Marion from Nyack-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., in 1820, two years before the founding of the village by Eber Baker. Dr. Ebenezer Ballantine was Marion's first physician and John Ballantine served as the first postmaster and was one of the founders of the First Presbyterian church and the Marion Academy, an educational institution.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2:30 p. m. at the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home on East Center street. Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of which Mr. Conley was a member, will officiate and burial will be made in Marion cemetery. Masonic services will be conducted by Marion Lodge No. 70 and members of the Marion County Bar association will attend in a body. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening, until the hour of the service.

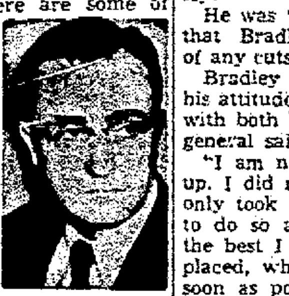
Running VA Is Thankless Job; Bradley Wants To Pull Out

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, March 29 — Running the veterans administration is a big job, and a tough one. Because it's tough and getting bigger, President Truman more than a year ago borrowed General Omar Bradley from the army to run VA.

Now does he like the job? Apparently, not much. He wants to get back to the army as soon as he can.

But before listening to what he says about it, here are some of the VA problems.



James Marlow

The VA operates the veterans' hospitals, educates and trains them, gives them loans to buy homes, and handles their insurance.

There are billions of details mixed up in that.

At this time there are 18,300,000 veterans of World War II and other wars eligible for veterans benefits of one kind or another.

VA is paying for the schooling of 1,700,000 veterans now in 10,000 separate schools and colleges.

Another 720,000 are training in 35,000 job-training places.

In January alone VA received 12,927,522 separate pieces of mail; its 4,000 contact representatives held 2,594,786 personal conferences with veterans in VA offices; they answered 955,840 telephone calls for information; they prepared 443,733 pieces of correspondence, and they assisted veterans in filling out 928,727 application forms for benefits.

General Bradley went up to congress to ask the house appropriations committee for more money to keep the VA going.

The chairman, Rep. Taber, New York Republican, is very economy-minded and has been very eager to cut down the number of government employes.

Mindful of this, General Bradley had sent out a telegram to all VA branches to keep down expenses and not hire any more people.

He read Taber a letter from one of the doctors running a veterans hospital, saying his people were in "panic" because of this order.

The general read the letter. Taber didn't like it. He told Bradley:

He was "almost of the opinion" that Bradley resented the idea of any cuts in the VA.

Bradley told him that wasn't his attitude, and then he cut loose with both barrels on Taber. The general said:

"I am not trying to build this up. I did not ask for this job. I only took it because I was asked to do so and I am trying to do the best I can until I can be replaced, which I hope will be as soon as possible, because it is a thankless job no matter how done, and I am just trying to make the best of it and doing the best I can to carry out what I think the congress intended."

The letter he had read was a scorcher. It was from Dr. Karl A. Menninger, who's running the VA hospital at Topeka, Kansas.

After relating his great trouble in getting doctors to work for the government at all, he said the doctors now are saying:

"It is time for us to get out to this and into private practice and let the VA revert to the mediocre type of medical care it used to have."

Don't Blame Bradley

Then Dr. Menninger told Bradley in the letter:

"We all realize that this is not your idea but that your hand is being forced and that certain members of congress think that this is just a political item.

"But they should know that there are many of who are not politicians and not disposed to submit to political maneuvers. I came into this thing because I saw the possibility of developing a great thing for the veterans and the nation. * * *

"But I and many others like me will drop it like a hot cake if pennywise, pound foolish policies are forced upon it. * * *

"I have read this letter to the administrative staff of my hospital and received their unanimous endorsement as to its accuracy and faithful representation of the local situation."

EUROPEAN DENTIST DIES AT DELAWARE

Dr. C. E. Smith Listed Notables Among Patients.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, March 29 — Dr. Charles Edwin Smith, 72, English-born dentist who numbered the great of Europe among his patients, died Thursday at his home north of here on Route 23. He had been ill four months.

Born in Ely, Cambridgeshire, England, he studied dentistry in France and practiced there for 40 years before making his permanent home in Delaware after the invasion of France in 1940.

He had married a Delaware resident, the former Voleria Koeppel, in Europe and had purchased the Lorette fruit farm north of Delaware on route 23 in 1912, visiting here from time to time before 1940. He left his office in Cannes, France, hours before the invading Germans arrived. He spoke frequently before organizations in Marion and other communities in this area concerning his experiences.

One of the noted European specialists in the rebuilding of teeth smashed by accidents, his practice in Cannes included the fashionable habitues of the French Riviera. Among his patients were Winston Churchill, Henry Morgenthau, Queen Marie of Roumania, Prince Paul of Serbia, the late Premier Venizelos of Greece, the Duchess of Kent's family and several members of the Russian royal family.

When he left France he was president-elect of the French Orthodontia society and vice president of the European Orthodontia society.

Surviving are his widow; two sons, Charles E. Smith of Everett, Wash., and E. Stewart Smith of London, England; and several grandchildren.

Services were held this afternoon at the Ramsey-Mohr funeral home. Entombment was made in Otterbein mausoleum, Westerville.

RUSS WANT NO WAR, PEACE GROUP HEARS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 29 — Anne O'Hare McCormick, New York newspaper woman, declared today "Russia isn't ready to fight, has no will to fight and will back down before any threat of a first-class scrap."

Mrs. McCormick, who is U. S. delegate to the United Nations educational, scientific and cultural organization, said she believes this country is "too much afraid of Communism."

"It is troublesome as an instrument of Russian expansion," she said in a speech prepared for a meeting of the Women's Action Committee for Lasting Peace, "but as a doctrine and way of life it 'takes' only among the impoverished, the dispossessed and the frustrated.

"We are too much afraid of Russia. Russia is the biggest and most undeveloped of empires. Victory has weakened it as it has weakened every victor except the United States."

Mrs. McCormick said that with this in mind "my guess is that the President made a major issue of the Greece crisis to warn the Soviet leaders that they were running into the danger of war."

She urged that the United States play "spectacularly" the dual role of defender of democracy and United Nations sponsor.

CLASS ENTERTAINED

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Vance of west of the city were hosts for a meeting of the Co-Workers class of Greenwood Evangelical United Brethren Sunday school Thursday night. ## DAILY LENTEN MEDITATIONS

IN THE CHRIST OF THE CROSS WE GLORY

Today's Text: "Hosanna!" Mark 11:9; "Crucify!" Mark 15:13.

AT THE height of his fame Napoleon was passing through a small village where the entire population had turned out to do him honor. A member of his retinue turned and said: "Sire, is it not wonderful that the people love you so?" Napoleon replied: "They would turn out and cry just as loudly to see me hanged!" And so it was on the way to exile on Elba, these same people hurled curses and epithets at their one-time hero. Crowds are always fickle. A mob is easily led. The contradicting cries of our texts were voiced by the same people. Palm Sunday praise quickly changes to Good Friday godlessness. Thus it is today. We sing "Hosanna" so piously on the Lord's Day. (And how much perjury is committed during the singing of a good hymn!), and then during the week the way we live shrieks "Crucify." As someone has put it—

"Mr. Business went to church,
He went to church on Sunday.
Mr. Business went to hell
For what he did on Monday!"

That goes for all the rest of us too. It takes more than a prayer and a hymn or the emotion of a church service to make us Christians. It takes the operation of the Spirit of God in the New Birth. "Ye must be born again." "No man can call Jesus, Lord, except by the Holy Spirit." That is the beginning. If we are not "born again" we can be moved to cry "Crucify" just as easily as "Hosanna."

brother of the winner and a Dublin veterinary surgeon, who conditioned the sturdy 'chaser for the grind on the sands of the seaside resort of Sutton, not far from Dublin.

The race started without one of its two previous winners when Lovely Cottage, victor a year ago, was a last-minute scratch because of the weather. It ended without both of them, because Bogskar, the 14-year-old veteran who clicked in 1940, was among the 36 who fell over the slippery footing and feared jumps along the way.

Ticket holders on Caughoo and Jockey Treble in the annual "spring betting double" won 8,899½ pounds ($35,598) on each two-shilling (40 cents) bet.

Old School Grounds To Be Parking Lot

A lot at the corner of Davids and Bennett street, site of the former Davids street school, is being cleared of trees and other obstructions and will be used by the Marion Power Shovel Co. as an employes' parking lot within about 30 days, according to Joe Azaroff, owner of the lot. Mr. Azaroff purchased the lot from the Marion board of education recently.

Auto Overturns On Slippery Road

An auto driven by Richard Spade, 24, of route 4, Marion, turned over on state route 4 just south of the Crawford county line when the driver lost control on a slippery pavement, causing considerable damage to the car but no personal injury, state highway patrolmen reported. The accident occurred at 3:30 a. m. this morning.

Cub Scouting Leaders Meet at Headquarters

Marion district Cub Scouting leaders held a monthly meeting Thursday night at Scout headquarters, 31 attending.

The meeting was called by Scout District Commissioner Charles Smith and Herman E. Powelson acted as moderator. Mrs. Howard Zeigler gave a demonstration on how to open a den meeting and G. W. It's Your Buick – but our Sweetheart

LOOK AT YOUR BUICK
everyone else does
Your Buick has lines and style that win wolf calls. Are you keeping it smart and handsome as it should be? Are you protecting its good looks, its luster and color?
There's a way to do it that Buick engineers say is right. It's called Porcelainizing. This is a power-buffed finish that gives a smooth glaze to the body paint, sealing the pores and protecting the surface against road grime and dirt.
That's the way we do it here. Try it. See how it keeps a new car lustrous longer —how it gives older ones a new lease on good looks.
IT ALWAYS PAYS TO GET BUICK CAR CARE
BUICK CARE KEEPS BUICKS BEST

WHEN you first slipped behind the wheel of that Buick of yours, remember how your heart lifted? Remember your happy smile as your toe touched off the hum of Buick Fireball power? And your widening grin when all roads seemed downy as you winged along on BuiCoil springing?

That's what Buicks are built to do. And they'll do it long and well when they're cared for as anything so fine should be.

Not just an occasional oil change, mind you. Not a haphazard "Look 'er over, fill the battery, check the air." But interested, competent, understanding car care that keeps your Buick at its best.

That's exactly what we're set to give. In our shop we have the special Buick tools to do jobs quicker and better. In our parts department is a stock of Buick engineered parts for Buick cars. And we have a staff of thoughtful, capable specialists who know their Buicks lock, stock and barrel.

No, it's not ordinary service you get here. It's expert car care — by an organization devoted to seeing that you get the most out of your Buick. And surprisingly, for the same work done, it costs no more.

Think it over. Isn't it wise to let us care for your Buick? After all, Buicks are our sweethearts, first, last and always.

Power of the Purse

HOUSE REPUBLICANS, in a show of political strength, have cut income taxes as much as 30 per cent. Senate Republicans will make refinements in this enigmatic legislation—enigmatic because it now is evident that the Republicans themselves have lost track of what they are doing with the party pledge to reduce taxes.

This is only a continuation of the habit of handling the taxation issue in congress as if it were political, instead of financial. Both parties are guilty. During the New Deal, taxation was used to reward and to punish, but never to perform the ultimate function of good taxation, which is to obtain maximum public income with minimum injury to private enterprise.

The secret of good government today, as always, is efficient fiscal management; the catch-phrases and cross-currents of politics mean nothing in the long run. There can be no government without solvency. Sound, efficient taxation is the key to everything Americans are dreaming about, from security to a better deal for the ordinary run of citizens.

Yet, in national, state and local government, taxation is being left to the tender mercies of politicians and lobbyists. The goose that lays the golden eggs is being allowed to shift for itself. The stresses and strains that can throw the intricate structure of taxation out of line are neglected until it is too late to correct them.

Government is essentially the power of the people's purse to give the people what they want. With the solvency of the nation at stake and its security to boot, taxation is too important to be played with like any other political football.

Dollar Is Worth Saving

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has taken notice of rising prices which have sent the cost of living index to 152.8 from a norm of 100 based on the 1935-39 average. The President said he hoped businessmen would see the danger of rising prices and praised Ford's and International Harvester's price reductions.

If the nation is to halt spiraling prices, the time to start is now, before customers padlock their pocketbooks and open them only to buy minimum amounts of absolute necessities.

The standard excuse for increased prices has been higher labor costs. But the excuse is getting threadbare. While a few industries are worse off financially than they were a year ago, most are reporting increased profits, and if the increases continue through 1947 they will reach exceptional heights. Therein lies the danger. The rosy flush of health may become the feverish pink of the sick room unless the scramble for profits is curbed, to save the value of the dollar.

The wholesale commodity index is up 36.8 per cent over a year ago. Clothing prices have advanced for 44 consecutive months. House furnishing and kitchen equipment prices have risen steadily. There have been seasonal declines in food prices but the trend is upward.

A halt has to be called somewhere. Voluntary price reductions have been called unselfish gestures. Actually they are common sense actions on the part of shrewd businessmen who know that if dollar profits are to mean anything, rising prices must be checked.

What Can We Salvage?

ONE kind of war propaganda spreads itself. Human beings engaged in war want desperately to believe they are going to get something out of it. Their own wishful thinking tempts them into rationalizations which cannot be justified—causes them to redouble their efforts in the belief things will be better after victory.

Thus it is that now, in 1947, confronted with grim evidence of starvation, systematic brutality, terror and a continuing need for their assistance, Americans are wondering what they got out of the war. Neither abroad nor at home are their fond hopes materializing. Europe has not been saved from despotism. The United States is not equipped with dream houses, harmony and plastic contentment.

It no longer is a question of what the United States got out of the war. The answer is that the United States got nothing. It spent its manpower and its wealth prodigally, but it got nothing. The new question is what the United States will be able to salvage from the ruins. It was obvious after World War I that nobody ever could win a modern war, but that was forgotten in the rationalizations of World War II. It is obvious again now—obvious that in modern, mass warfare with its large-scale, systematic destruction and dislocation everybody loses. Victory goes to the side that loses least and finds the most to salvage.

Colorado's Straight-Jacket

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Allocation of State Funds Creates Problem.

DENVER, March 29—In the election last November, Colorado ran against the national tide. It elected a Democratic governor to succeed a Republican governor. The main reason for this was that the Democratic candidate, Chief Justice Lee Knous, is a man whose integrity and intellectual stature impressed voters far beyond their immediate resentment against the irritations of the Democratic administration in Washington.

As governor, Knous is confronted with the inevitable consequences of New Deal doctrine. Back in 1936, when humanitarianism was in full tide, Colorado approved an amendment to the state constitution which allocated the receipts of certain state taxes — including sales taxes, inheritance taxes, liquor taxes and others—to the payment of old-age pensions.

In that year it would have been possible to satisfy the pension people with a guarantee of $30 a month. But the constitutional amendment made it possible to increase the comparatively modest goals of 1936 to amounts which are now the highest in all the states for such relief. More than $20,000,000 of Colorado's revenues of $16,000,000 in 1946 went for old-age pensions.

The maximum pension award in Colorado, formerly $45 a month, has risen to $63 a month. With steady increases in the excise revenues also marked in the constitution for pensions, the figure is expected to reach $68 a month this year. And such pensions are tax-exempt.

Meanwhile, other needs of the state have become a critical problem. The most important of these is increased pay for teachers. Colorado is proud of its schools. But its meagerly paid teachers are being drained off to coast states which are able to pay higher salaries. At the moment, a third of Colorado's teachers are working on temporary certificates. It is easy to see how unhappy the permanent staff must be on salaries appropriate to the prewar cost of living. Unrest prevails all over the state, particularly in those school districts outside Denver.

Efforts to pass constitutional amendments to remedy this situation have been repeatedly defeated by the old-age pension people. And so old-age pensioners in Colorado are receiving higher amounts than in any other state, and teachers are pretty near the bottom.

Desperate Situation

The new governor and the Republican legislature are frantically attempting to bring about a change. Any new effort to levy a tax to help the teachers is meeting the opposition of special groups. An effort to double the state income tax has, up to this time, failed. All the obvious sources of taxation are forestalled by the constitutional allocation of funds to the pensioners. The state is hamstrung by the vicious practice of levying taxes which are firmly directed to a special purpose.

The whole situation illustrates the dead sea fruit of the so-called humanitarian objectives of early New Deal days. Some special interest in this case that of the pensioners—caught the favor of the electorate. Firm guarantees were established, and the growing needs of some other group were forgotten. The teachers of the state, too loyal and too interested in their work to organize, were caught in the terrible spiral of inflation. And when the merits of their case became apparent, the sources of relief were blocked off by groups which had organized for action at an earlier stage.

This is the situation faced by a governor and legislature elected on a promise of good government. The New Deal chickens are coming home to roost.

Has Diplomacy Taken The Pledge?

Moscow observers report that only four toasts were drunk at the opening banquet of the foreign ministers conference

Have our diplomats lost their capacity for vodka as well as cooperation?

One harks back to friendlier days, when the quantity of unity was not rationed.

Spirits were gayer—and freer—then. And food? The Russian banquets had more courses than a correspondence school.

Time was when the progress of world cooperation was measured in jiggers rather than ultimatum, when peace-loving peoples waited anxiously for the flash that, between the soup and the entree, large areas of agreement had been found.

There were a lot more hangovers about the conference table in those days . . . but a site less friction.

The Constant Factor

By STEWART ALSOP

JERUSALEM, March 29—What is the basis of British-policy in Palestine, and is the game worth the candle? In this bitter, beautiful city which a ninth century monk once aptly described as "the golden bowl of scorpions," you can find an infinite variety of angry answers. To many Jews seriously disappointed by the policy of the Labor government which had seemed to promise so much, no motive seems too petty or too gross to explain what they consider a base betrayal.

What is no doubt a fairly general British view was summed up in one Englishman's remark: "They want us to sit on the heads of the poor, bloody Arabs until they have got a majority and when we don't want to do it, they say we are imperialists." Yet almost obscured by the emotional storms engendered by the Zionist issue lies the one constant decisive factor in all politics throughout this area. That is the Soviet Union.

The emphasis on the exploits of the terrorists has tended to obscure the real quality of the deep opposition of the Jewish community toward current British policy. The one opinion which is shared alike by the British and the vast majority of the Jews is that the blowing up of 19-year-old English soldiers is not the way to convince the world of the justice of the Jewish cause.

Palestinian Jews who have seen terrorism at first hand leave it to London novelists or Hollywood playwrights to romanticize these carefully planned murders. But terrorism to one side, the whole Jewish community is united in denunciation of British policy.

Militarism Charged

From embittered Jews you can hear dozens of explanations for the Labor government's continuance of the hated White Paper policy, after the Labor party had roundly denounced it before the elections. The most general and the most serious charge is that the British intend to cling to the mandate at all costs so that Palestine can be turned into a great military base. This base would be a substitute for the position from British has withdrawn.

There is no doubt that British military minds have been thinking of Palestine in primarily military and strategic terms. As one British soldier remarked to this reporter, "We're on a bit thin ground, you know." They are and they may become more so. They have a base in Cyprus, the return of which to Greece sas been demanded by both the Cypriots and the Greeks. The British assert, contrary to other reports, that it is no more than a garrison.

The British troops in Delta, for the protection of the Suez canal, may have to be evacuated before 1956 and British troops in Eritrea may also soon be on the way home. There is a tiny garrison at Aden. There are a division or so of Indian troops in Iraq but there is mounting opposition in Iraq to a treaty which permits their presence.

Finally, there is the East African base which is being enlarged but which is dangerously distant from the Middle East oil region. That is about the lot. It is obvious that the British strategic position throughout this region is not what it used to be.

Probable Divergent Views

There is reason to believe that there is a division of opinion in British general staff as to whether or not Palestine is valuable as a base or whether East Africa alone is sufficient. But at any rate, the British hotly deny that strategic considerations have been decisive in British policy in Palestine. They assert that otherwise the Palestine case would never have been referred to the United Nations.

Moreover, and more convincingly, they point out that the Jewish Agency leaders themselves have repeatedly made it clear that if a Jewish state is established in Palestine, the British will be welcome to a military base there.

There are British officials who believe that the real trouble with British policy here is simply that there hasn't been any, with disastrous hand-to-mouth muddling as a result. There have also certainly been perfectly sincere doubts among British policy-makers about the propriety of holding the will of a large majority in abeyance until such time as it should cease to be a majority.

Yet it seems certain that the single overriding consideration affecting British policy in Palestine has been awareness of the political objectives of the Soviet Union. The whole British economy depends on oil from the Middle East. Yet the British are fully conscious that their Middle Eastern political position is shaky and getting shakier.

Many sense that the old imperial technique—the convenient technique of influence, exercised through a favored minority—is creaking badly. Yet in view of economic conditions at home they see no alternative to this technique. The British are not such fools as to believe that the rich effendi class in the Arab world would ever do more than flirt cautiously with the Soviets.

Yet they fear that British backing for a Jewish state in Palestine might give the Soviets a powerful weapon to excite the restless and miserable Arab masses, more easily inflamed by this issue, with its religious overtones, than by any other. Thus the Soviets might win a cheap but decisive political victory.

Nothing will be accomplished by America's shouting power politics and oil diplomacy at the British. The British cannot be expected lightly to commit national suicide, which is pretty nearly what the loss of their Middle East oil position would mean, but that does not mean that American policy, now so deeply committed in this area, should slavishly follow the British lead.

Reversing its previous stand on the question of state control of minimum wages, the supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the Washington law establishing minimum wages for women.

Plans were launched to raise $1,000 by public subscription for restoration of the old Quarry Street cemetery, the city's first public burial ground. Heading the campaign was C. E. Curtis, and assisting him were L. A. Axe, Fred E. Guthery, Carl Danner, Miss Louise Cunningham and Miss Emma Thompson.

Members of the Searchlight club entertained with a guest party at the home of Mrs. J. P. Thatcher on South Prospect street. Attorney Russell M. Wilhelm was guest speaker and gave a talk on "Laws Women Should Know."

Eighty-two members of the Hi-Y clubs of Harding High and Edison Junior High schools and their leaders made their annual spring tour which took them to Mansfield where they visited the state reformatory, the Westinghouse plant and the Mansfield Tire & Rubber Co. They were accompanied by Clarence Lenz, boys' work secretary at the Y.M.C.A., Miss Grace Colvin, visiting teacher in the public schools, J. E. Frew, principal at Edison Junior High school and William Weossner.

Miss Lavonne Bell of Harlan, Ky. and Wayne Bell, a student at Transylvania college at Lexington, Ky. were visiting their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Harry S. Bell of Bellefontaine avenue.

Balance of Power Is Issue

By WALTER LIPPMANN

WHILE the administration will in the end be supported by congress, the way in which it chose to present the case for intervention in the Middle East has certainly not strengthened its hand.

The case itself is a very strong one. Indeed it is unanswerable as regards the vital interests of this country.

But the real case, on which the decision to intervene is based, was announced in hot generalities and has since then been defended by disclaimers, denials, apologies and assurances which have done little but confuse the issue.

The reason for intervening in Greece and Turkey is that of all places in the world they are the best suited strategically for the employment of American military power to check the expansion of Soviet military power. The power of the Soviet Union is in its inexhaustible reserves of infantry capable of pressing upon its wide land frontiers in Europe and Asia.

There is no other power or group of powers capable of mobilizing the troops to hold, much less push back, the masses of the Red Army on land.

The power of the United States is on the sea and in the air. This kind of power can be exerted to check the Red Army only if it can be brought within striking distance of the vital centers of the Soviet Union.

Strategic Approach

The obvious and the unique strategic approach, as all history proves and the Russians are most keenly aware, is across the Black Sea to the Ukraine and the Caucasus. The entrance to the Black Sea is in the eastern Mediterranean through the Aegean Sea and the Dardanelles, that is to say between Greece and Turkey.

If and when there is a general settlement with the Soviet Union, this strategic gateway should be neutralized so that the Russians cannot come through it to expand to the south, or the western powers pass through it to dominate the Black Sea.

But until there is a general settlement, it is necessary to close the gateway to the Russians and to keep it open for ourselves. This strategic advantage provides the only way we have of opposing the immense preponderance of Russian power everywhere else; in Germany, in eastern Europe, in the Balkans, toward Iran, Afghanistan, India, and on the vast land frontier with China.

Insofar as we are able to exert American sea and air power in the Black Sea, we have the means of checking the advance of the Red Army westward into Europe. We are on its flank and in its rear and we are able to maintain a balance of power, without which serious diplomatic negotiation is impossible.

We cannot expect the Kremlin to like this. But the Kremlin will understand it. It will say, and it may believe, that we intend to attack the Soviet Union once we are established within reach of its most vulnerable region.

The answer to that is for the Russians to engage in serious negotiations for a Middle Eastern and a European settlement. The fact that we are capable of attacking them, as they are capable of attacking on the European continent and in Asia, will make the negotiation a serious negotiation.

As yet there has been no serious negotiation. These interminable wrangles are not a negotiation, and the reason they are not is that the Red Army cannot be argued out of the positions it holds, nor the Soviet pressure everywhere else checked by plugging up all the holes in the line.

A balance of power has to be reached in which the capacity of the Soviet Union to strike is balanced by our capacity to strike. Then Marshall will be able to negotiate with Stalin about the main issues instead of having to debate with Molotov about the details.

In this instance it would have meant saying plainly that we shall intervene in Greece or Turkey by giving them a special guaranty of their security until there is a general settlement. That is what we are doing

It will not make the Russians any less angry to say so clearly than it does to put it out by innuendo and with large vague generalizations which arouse passion without crystallizing the definite issue.

Then, we should not have got ourselves snarled up with considerations that have nothing to do with the basic decision.

We should not have had to make this look like a relief operation, certainly not in Turkey.

We should not have had to embarrass ourselves with talk about "democracy," when obviously the present Greek government is one of the poorest exhibits we could have selectd, and Turkey, while it is a self-respecting state is certainly not a democracy. We should not have had to pretend that this was not intervention when in fact we are proposing to conduct the Greek government.

The reason why the case was presented in generalities as an ideological crusade, and then in detail as an operation of relief and rehabilitation is, so far as I can make out, because the White House and State Department thought they could not "sell it" on its merits.

They believed the American people are not adult enough to support a strategic action designed to make effective a diplomatic policy and that the right decision had therefore first to be spiced up to attract their attention, and then watered down and sugared over to meet their doubts. I think the administration was wrong and that it would be having less trouble if it had not thought it had to be smart.

The administration may, as Keynes once said of Lloyd George after the last war, "judge rightly that this is the best of which a democracy is capable — to be jockeyed, humbugged, cajoled along the right road" and that it must be "the method of modern statesmen to talk as much folly as (they suppose) the public demands and to practice no more of it than is compatible with what they have said."

But there are a good many signs which indicate the American people have learned more out of the experience of this war than the tacticians in the White House and state department have realized.

Chickens, Pigs, People

By TRUMAN TWILL

One of our Fix-All-Things-pretty magazines is running a campaign to make America better looking. "What America needs is a good hot bath," it says grimly, pursing its editorial lips over such hill-billy neglect as dumps, littered streets, gouged-out earth, falling-down nuts, tattered signs, weedy, crummy buildings, dirty public buildings and also pursing them over all the things that could be done to spruce up America, if more people cared.

But in America, not many people care. The few who do must go up against discouraging odds in every attempt to make this country look as if people lived here, not pigs. Whatever they build that's pretty and nice will be kicked, defaced, trampled on and torn apart. Everything must be bolted down, or armed with high-voltage electricity and barbed wire to keep it out of the hands of thieves.

This is the land of the free and the home of false fronts with garbage cans stacked on the sidewalks, fire traps above stairs, dirty cellars below and makeshifts to keep the whole thing from falling down. It's the home of the automobile graveyard, the roadside dump, the littered pavement and the pile of empty oil cans to prove that the filling station is doing lots of business.

It's the place where an expanse of green lawn is an invitation to one and all to kick it to pieces, where shrubbery is nice stuff to pull up by the roots and fresh clean paint means a slate of dirty doggerel. America is the land where the brave mush out obscenities in soft concrete, carve their initials in public toilets, deface the Statue of Liberty with lipstick and cover up the view with outdoor exhortations to spend money at Joe's—Good Eats.

City streets are littered with trash. Vacant lots are full of debris. A public building is a hangout for loiterers squirting tobacco juice into corners and back of radiators. Gutters are full of clutter, store fronts are cheap-jacked with signs like a row of honky-tonks and public conveyances are befouled with scraps of box lunches and mashed-up cigarets.

We doubt if a good hot bath would do this country any good, although it might be a comfort to try. What America needs is a change of heart and a realization that all of us are going to live here a good long time, so we might as well make things shipshape. We're not passing through on our way west any more. We've settled down. The choice is between settling down in litter like chickens, wallowing in filth like pigs, or rising to the occasion like civilized human beings.

With few exceptions, the chickens and the pigs have the best of it so far, and if anyone disagrees just let him take a long, searching look at the old home town some spring day when the sun is bright and the dirt, filth and neglect are visible in all their pristine ugliness.

Resurrection Pageant To Be Presented at Epworth Church

Large Cast Will Appear in "The Dawning," Set To Start at 8 O'clock Tomorrow Night.

"The Dawning," a pageant centered around the theme of Christ's resurrection will be presented at 8 p. m. tomorrow at Epworth Methodist church by a large cast of children, young people and adults. It has been given twice before at Epworth church and is being put on this year by special request because of its unusual message and significance for the Easter season, and an effort has been made by the characters to portray the thoughts and feelings of the early Christians of the first century who were "called to be witnesses to the world concerning the life and death and resurrection of Jesus," Miss Margaret Huffman, director, explained.

The action centers around Junius, Roman centurion who, early tradition says, gave the final order for the crucifixion of Christ and who later, as Longinus, became a Christian bishop and martyr. The part will be taken by Ralph Carhart. Other characters include persons of the Scriptures, Mary Magdalene, the women at the tomb, Joseph of Arimathea, Nicodemus, Rhoda, servant girl in the court of the high priest, and her aged father, Cleopas, travelers and children.

Congregational singing will be led by Mrs. E. N. Hale. Mrs. George Wilson is accompanist.

Taking part besides Mr. Carhart will be the following:

John Paul Lawrence, Frank Gegenheimer, W. H. Goodwin, Gilbert Hammond, Stanley Moore, Paul Smith, John Miller, Ronald Klingel, Paul Dasher, Ralph Hurr, LaVerne Nash, L. M. Yinger, Howard Fogle, Richard Acker, Mrs. Irene Moore, Richard Kennedy, Keil Hochstetter, Mrs. Harriet Hancock, Mrs. Alberta Klingel, Marjorie Miller, Evelyn Haren, Mrs. C. H. Indoe, Evelyn Showers.

Mrs. Lois Jean Barnhouse, Evan Porter, Richard McClain, Roderick Eyler, James Rea, Keith Smith, Mrs. Edith Stayner, Jane Gilbert, Pat Zahn, Marilyn Fields, Virginia Stayner, Mary Jane Williams, James Wilson, Ann Carhart, John Hendel, Gerry Isler, Ronald Hammond, Betty Price, Tom Zimmerman, Marilyn Sifritt, Tom Indoe, Tom Wilson, Ruth Wilson, Phoebe Ann Dowler, and Max Carroll.

The following are assisting in the presentation:

Richard Indoe, Bob Humes, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Scheifler, Mrs. Richard Kennedy, Mrs. Ralph Carhart, Mrs. Gilbert Hammond, Miss Harriett Goodwin, Mrs. M. A. Hendel, Mrs. Relvie Sifritt, Mrs. Joseph Scandling, Mrs. Frances Bryans, Mrs. Ray Eaton, Grace Colgrove, Mrs. Elvin Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Schiller, Mrs. Phil Rea, Mrs. Nancy Ballenger, Mrs. Howard Geer and Rae Fetter. Ushers are Ray Eaton, Ronnie Powell, Harold VanGorden, Wert Robinson, Dave Brown, Bob Ralston, Orland Beveridge, Dick Lattimore, and John Keggan.

A New Kind of King

A Sermonette

By REV. HOWARD L. OLEWILER

Pasor of First Presbyterian Church

Mark 11:11—"And Christ entered into Jerusalem."

JESUS entered into Jerusalem in the fashion of a king. The citizens and children of Jerusalem heralded His coming and received Him with the preparations and plaudits becoming to a king. They honored Him with an honor due His name, for in reality He was a king. Uncrowned, yet a king. They acclaimed Jesus king. They did better than they knew. Jesus received their hosannas on Palm Sunday. Even though they renounced His kingship a little later, by shouting "Crucify Him," yet in truth they crowned Him king and knew it not.

Jesus admits that He is a king. Pilate asked Him, "Art thou a king?" Jesus replied, "I am a king, to this end was I born" (John 18:36). It was difficult for the average man and even His disciples to understand this strange kind of a king and the ultimate nature of His kingdom. Jesus was an unusual king, not like earthly kings.

Triumphal processions were common in that day. War chariots with horses in rich trappings, garlands, gold and silver vessels, slaves, incense, brazen trumpets, chained prisoners—it was the victor king coming home with the spoils of war. The royal parade was a gala festivity.

But in Christ's cortege, there were no slaves, nor swords, nor battle axes, nor spears, nor war chariots. The only adornments for His hour of earthly glory were palm branches, emblems of peace. Instead of riding on a mighty steed or the best horse in the kingdom, Jesus came into Jerusalem riding on a lowly colt. I presume many of the spectators were disappointed expecting a more glamorous procession. But Jesus was giving to the world a new kind of a king.

Judas and in fact all of the disciples of our Lord, urged Jesus to declare Himself the Messiah and act like earthly kings. That was the prime motive of the betrayal of Judas. But Jesus was a different kind of a king. So different that He did not stay in the tomb like earthly kings. He came back from the dead more powerful than before to judge those who were His judges.

His friends and enemies were facing a strange kind of a king. Instead of demanding submission; instead of calling His subjects before Him and demanding obeisance, He died for His subjects. Think of it. A king dying for His subjects. Earthly kings demand loyalty. This King Jesus went beyond the Holy City's wall to the meanest place and voluntarily died, that His life may be a ransom for many.

Jesus buys His subjects with His blood. Subjects generally shed their blood for their king but here we have a king who pours out His blood for the safety and deliverance of His subjects. Here is a king who sought to redeem the world on the bold adventure of suffering and sacrificial love freely poured out.

The contrast is striking. Earthly kings depend absolutely upon violence, force, intrigue, the might of arms. This new kind of a king introduced a new way. He depended upon love, forgiveness, sacrifice and mercy. Pilate is still in his tomb of death. The tomb of Christ is empty. Christ won. The new king with His new way is the Victor—yea, "the victory that overcometh the world."

Jesus could have called a legion of angels to defend Him. He preferred to stand alone-silent, that even hard, cold Pilate began to tremble in the presence of such a majesty and dignity. Earthly kings would have called armies to defend them, but Jesus uttered words of kindness, "Father forgive them, of they know not what they do."

Instead of issuing an order to go out and meet the enemy sword for sword, this king prays for the enemy. "Forgive them." A king forgiving His accusers and murderers!

Someday we shall face this King. If He judges us the way the world judged Him or the way we judge and [illegible] one another, our doom and eternal death is [illegible].

Thank God for the [illegible] He will judge the world [illegible] righteousness and [illegible]. We need not stand before a [illegible] Pilate or an [illegible] jealous brother or before one who hates us—but before a King who understands, who knows the thoughts and yearnings that lie hidden from the world, that no earthly king or judge has wisdom enough or insight enough to understand.

Jesus, a new kind of a King.

Guard Against Structural Defects in Building of New Home

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

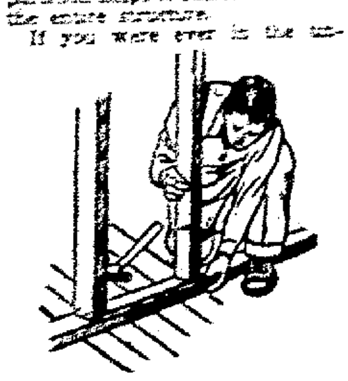
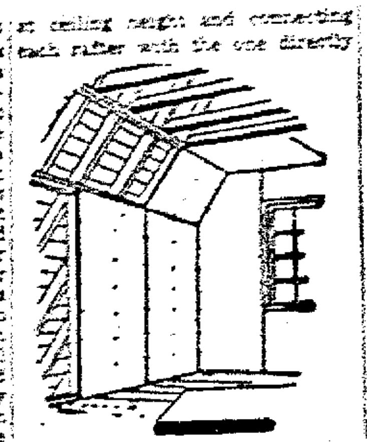
by W. Wadsworth Wood

When the interior partitions which divide a house into rooms and halls are being built, it is essential that they be erected according to approved methods and with the same care as the frame of the house. The United States department of commerce and the National Lumber Manufacturers association both recommend that all interior partitions be erected on a sole, laid over the rough floor shown, and that the studs or upright partition-frame members be spaced 16 inches apart on centers. Skimping on partition work may mean serious structural defects after the house is finished for the reason that whether they are load-bearing or not, each partition helps to stiffen and brace the entire structure.





If you were ever in the unfinished attic of a house, you may have noticed how the roof rafters slope up to the ridge-board at the peak. You should also see cross members, known as collar beams, running across the attic at ceiling height and connecting each rafter with the one directly opposite. Proper building practice calls for these beams because they are a most important detail in the roof structure. When they are installed, they add tremendous strength to the roof, and when there is great wind pressure on one side of the house they distribute part of the pressure to the opposite side. When the roof is under a heavy load from an accumulation of snow or ice, the collar beams take a large percentage of the downward thrust.

In inferior building, you frequently see that the collar beams are a scarce item; spread every other rafter and sometimes every three or four rafters. This can only mean that you will have a roof weaker than it should be, and one that will work or move under heavy pressures. Once the attic is ceiled and the rafters covered, it is hard to tell whether or not the job has been properly done.

In small home building, all structural details must be checked while the house is being built and not after it has been plastered or sheathed inside, because by that time the details are covered and rough floors, partition frames, studs, beams and rafters are buried from sight.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Masonry Building

Q. The building where we hold meetings of about one hundred people is constructed of concrete blocks. Is there any way to kill echoes within this building? We have difficulty in hearing each other because of the solid walls.

A. A company that specializes in soundproofing may be able to cover the walls and ceilings with materials that absorb sound waves. Look in your classified telephone directory under the heading "Sound-proofing" or "Sound Deadening." If there are shortages in the necessary materials you may not be able to have the work done at the present time.

Repainting Woodwork

Q. We have had heavy condensation on our windows, so that water ran down the inside glass. This is probably the reason why the paint is coming off the sash. How should we go about repainting the woodwork around these windows?

A. Storm sash would probably stop the heavy condensation on the window glass. The damaged paint should be sanded off to a smooth surface, followed by dusting off. The woodwork can be repainted with two coats of enamel undercoater and a finish coat of top quality enamel.

Chestnut Trim

Q: We have some old chestnut trees in our wood and are planning to use wormy chestnut for interior trim in the new house that we plan to build in a year or two. Could you suggest the most favorable finish for this type of wood to retain its natural beauty? Also the right method of application.

A. My own preference for a finish would be paste wax, which should not be applied too thick. If too thick, it will collect in the open grain and form light spots. Wrap a lump of paste wax in two or three thicknesses of cheesecloth. Put it on in a thin coat and rub. After twenty minutes for drying, apply more coats in the same way. Remember, the wood must be properly seasoned and prepared. Before the application of wax it would be advisable to give the wood a thin coat of white shellac, thinned half-and-half with denatured alcohol. This will keep the wax from soaking into the wood and the surface will take a better polish.

Crack Around Bathtub

Q. Can you suggest some kind of filler to use in the crack between the bathtub and the tile wall?

A. See if you can get a special kind of metal moulding that is now back on the market again after the war shortage. It may not be available to your locality, however. If not, you can use a light colored caulking compound intended for this purpose.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—The spreading popularity of the rambling one-story ranch house type of dwelling throughout northern states is demonstrated in the selection of this style of architecture for the model home being erected in Grand Central Palace for the Metropolitan Home Show. Designed by Rudolph A. Matern and Associates of 90-34 161st St., Jamaica 2, L. I., N. Y., the house was selected by the 500 builders sponsoring the exhibit because of its many features that are said to appeal to builders and buyers in all parts of the country.

Boyle Finds Five-Cent Cigar Gone with Wind

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

…MPA, Fla. — A vice presi- … of the United States once … at the country needs is a …e-cent cigar."

…there isn't much hope of … it.

"…l never see a good five- …gar again," said a spokes- … the Ha- …gar indus- …uch cen- …ere. "Not …ages and materials …hey are The war … a 40 per …ncrease in …utput of …but there current in the … for hand-made high- … cheroots.

Hal Boyle

… October tobacco manufac- … throughout America turned …544,000,000 cigars, expecting … …stmas boom. Grades retail- … to two-for-a-quarter did … A lot of the three-for-a- … brand are still unbought, … out on the shelves. That … unemployment and less … and rice for the hand- …gar rollers in Ybor City, a bit of … Spain set down in Tampa.

Vets Swell Ranks

But veterans who learned to …e cigars when they could buy them at cost at army exchanges around the world aren't going … to cigarets.

"A cigar smoker never goes … to cigarets or pipes," said the spokesman "If times get …, he just smokes a cheaper cigar"

Cuban and Spanish workers …o for generations have made a … rolling cigars by hand are losing out to the machine. Already more machine-made cigars are turned out here than are rolled by hand.

"There will always be a market for quality hand-rolled cigars," said the spokesman, "but it is a dying craft.

Aren't Following Trade

"We still have factories where grandfather, father and son or daughter work side by side. Many of the young Cubans now, however, don't want to go into the factories. They believe other fields have better futures."

In the old days the handworkers were entertained and informed by factory-hired readers—a custom brought from Cuba—who read newspapers and novels to them as they rolled the Havana. There are reports this was halted after factory owners discovered the readers were audibly browsing through Communist pamphlets — dishing out propaganda on company time.

"The real reason is more prosaic," said the spokesman. "The younger generation learned to read English themselves, and there was no longer any use for a reader. Also, the factories expanded and became too large. Some factories now broadcast music and baseball scores."

Paid on Output Basis

Hand cigar makers earn from $40 to $80 a week, depending on their output which varies anywhere from 250 to 1,000 cigars a day. But a machine manned by two women can turn out between 5,000 and 6,000 in eight hours. And the women, brought in during wartime, are staying on. Many are middle-aged and of Anglo-Saxon descent.

An executive who showed me through the largest factory here said it was all bosh that workers ever sealed cigars with a tongue flick.

"That's nonsense," he said "We've always used gum tragacanth, brought from Arabia We tried all sorts of substances during the war, but nothing worked as well."

Price of the gum rose from $4 a pound to $18, but the supply is better again.

One thing you don't see in a cigar factory—a sign saying: "No Smoking"

Only a three-handed worker could smoke anyway He needs two hands to roll the cigars

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Picric Acid for Mild Burn

Every mother of a family will dread accidents less if she learns how to take care of minor injuries One of the most frequent of those is mild burns and if a few simple facts are kept in mind, such injuries can easily be cared fo, at home with a minimum of trouble and worry

Of course, severe burns should always be treated in a hospital whenever possible because they are dangerous to lif and far too serious for amateur handling.

When it comes to the ordinary mild burn, there are three things to think about: first, to keep the skin intact or unbroken whenever possible, second, to avoid infection, and third, to relieve pain

According to Drs. Saul Malkiel and William C Boyd of Boston all of these goals can usually be attained by painting mild burns with a solution of picric acid Generally where the burn is slight, the skin will be intact at first. The picric acid will serve to keep it this way since it hardens the skin enough so that it does not have a tendency to break.

The parts of the skin which are likely to be exposed to rubbing can be further protected with a light, dry sterile gauze dressing Picric acid, too, is a mild antiseptic and also serves to deaden pain

These physicians never have seen an infection develop under unbroken skin which has been treated with the picric acid Within thirty minutes after its application in the case of minor burn, all pain has disappeared

Drs. Malkiel and Boyd do not advise the use of any kind of ointments because they tend to soften the skin which, in turn, may cause it to break and thus lead in infections They have also found that burns treated with picric acid heal fairly promptly, in fact, more rapidly than some treated with sulfathiazole ointment Picric acid, on the other hand, cannot be used for large burns because it tends to cause the skin to contract and thus might interfere with the circulation For this a thick paste made with baking soda and water can be used until a doctor is available.

Blisters which form as a result of a burn, when covered with picric acid, generally do not break open. Thus the fluid in the blisters is reabsorbed into the body and there is no loss of such materials as proteins and minerals which are present in the fluid. In cases of large burns, much fluid may be lost from the body and this must be replaced Usually this is done by giving injections of blood plasma, or the fluid part of the blood, into a vein

When a burn is treated with picric acid the damaged skin generally remains until new skin has developed underneath it About the only objection to the picric acid treatment is the possibility that some persons may be oversensitive to it. However, Drs. Malkiel and Boyd have never seen such a reaction in the patients treated by them.

HEALTH SEALS BRING $4,777

Report on Campaign Made at Annual Meeting of County Association.

The sum of $4,777.67 was realized in the 1946 Marion county Christmas health seal campaign to aid in combatting tuberculosis, it was announced at the annual meeting of the Marion County Anti-Tuberculosis league Wednesday night in the office of Dr. E. L. Brady, president of the league. The county's quota was $5,500. The league still has pe of receiving returns from a number of persons who have mislaid or overlooked their Christmas seals and it is expected that the fund will be increased somewhat. A few dollars were received this week in belated letters, Mrs. Walter E. Miley, executive secretary states.

$7,000 Spent in 1946

More than $7,000 was spent last year in the work of the Anti-Tuberculosis league in Marion county, the annual report showed. Twenty clinics were conducted at the City hospital, including 451 X-rays and 130 fluoroscopes. Twenty-four new cases were found, 12 of which have been admitted to sanatoriums for treatment. The remaining 12 have not been hospitalized to date, it was reported. At the office of Dr. N. Sifritt, county health commissioner, where skin tests are conducted each Monday, 418 tests were taken and of these 176 were found to be positive. Prevalence of the disease is on the increase in the county the reported showed.

Skin Test Program

Plans were discussed for a skin testing program this year, to be open to pupils of all senior grades and also the general public and an effort will be made to interest

Good Response Made To Call For Pre-Marital Course Here

An enthusiastic response to proposed plans for holding a pre-marital course for engaged couples here, gave encouragement for further work on the plan when a group of interested persons met at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night for discussion. The planning meeting was called by the Marion County Council of Churches and the Y. with Rev. Eldred Johnston, president of the council, and Earl N. Hale, executive secretary of the Y, directing the discussion. A group of 14 attended.

Ways of creating interest in the advocated course and of enlisting persons to enroll in the classes were talked over. Two definite conclusions were reached, Rev. Johnston reported. It was concluded advisable to write to proper sources in various cities which already conduct pre-marital courses, such as Toledo, Columbus and Cleveland, for their procedures and suggestions, and to send questionnaires to 100 recently married couples asking them to indicate their choices of significant subjects for discussion.

Purpose of the course will be to equip young people to meet their many new problems as they enter married life. Rev. Johnston quoted statistics which lists 95 per cent of couples do so without previous study of the problems of marriage. "It is known that almost any problem which arises to cause difficulty in home life can be traced to lack of preparation for and lack of understanding of the obligations of marriage," Rev. Johnston declared. It is hoped by the bringing in some of financial expert, psychiatrist, doctor and qualified minister that couples may find here the means of avoiding financial, emotional, physiological and religious disturbances, making thus for happier homes and in some cases even preventing divorce, Rev. Johnston indicated.

clerks in stores and employes in other concerns coming in close contact with the public, in the tests. Other plans discussed included the bringing of the state mobile unit to Marion during the county fair.

During the business session the present officers were reelected and steps were taken to change the name of the organization to th Marion County Tuberculosis and Health association to conform with the state organization. Dr. Brady was reelected president, Dr. O. M. Young, vice president, C. W. Anderson, treasurer, Miss Nellie Bain, recording secretary, Mrs. Miley, executive secretary, Kenneth Tobin, representative director, and Dr. Young, alternative representative director.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 29—A weekend recess today delayed a test vote by the senate on the sharply debated nomination of David E. Lilienthal to be chairman of the atomic energy commission

The test will come on a motion by Senator Bricker (R-Ohio), to send the nomination back to the atomic energy committee, along with those of the other four commissioners and Carroll L. Wilson, general manager.

Bricker voted against Lilienthal in committee and characterized him in a two-hour speech yesterday as a man of "utter incompetence" to build an organization to protect the rights of the American people in the atomic field.

The motion to send the nominations back came as a surprise ending to his prepared address. Lilienthal's supporters were not ready for a vote and Senator Knowland (R-Calif), immediately took the floor in support of the nominee.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), also opposes Lilienthal's confirmation but he insisted that the debate go on until all interested senators had their say before voting on Bricker's motion.

Taft estimated the nomination itself could be brought to a vote by Thursday night if the senate continues to meet daily and holds two night sessions.

Lifeboat from Tanker Found; Crew Missing

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU, March 29—The missing lifeboat from the broken tanker Fort Dearborn was found last night by the steamship China Victory, but there was no sign of the 12 men who disappeared with it on the stormy night of March 12.

The China Victory, en route from the Philippines to San Francisco, radioed the Hawaiian sea frontier that Fort Dearborn motor lifeboat No. 3 was found drifting bottom-up 665 miles northeast of Midway island.

"Boat badly damaged. Propeller gone from shaft. No sign of life," the China Victory radioed.

The 12 who launched the lifeboat minutes after the tanker cracked in half were the only crewmen unaccounted for. Thirty-two men were rescued from the bow and stern sections by naval and merchant ships.

An extensive search of vast areas of the central Pacific was made for the lifeboat by navy planes, a cruiser and 15 destroyers.

LIQUOR BOARD TAKES UP 22 CLUB PERMITS

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 29—Members of the state board of liquor control started a weekend recess today after revoking 28 private liquor permits during five days of hearings of licenses issued in the Youngstown area.

On the last day of the investigation in Youngstown, the board yesterday cancelled five licenses and heard the ex-president of a Lisbon club admit that an Akron man participated in his organization's slot machine "take."

The witness was John F. Kelly, president of the Lisbon Veterans of Foreign Wars post until last month. He said that a man named Horace Mills of Akron received $60 a week, plus 20 per cent of the income, from six VFW slot machines.

Besides the Lisbon club permit, these licenses were revoked yesterday: the Savoy club of Youngstown, the Army-Navy Union Youngstown Garrison, the Belmont club and the Cardinal club, both of Warren.

Neither of the Warren clubs had a representative at the hearing, but assistant Attorney General Charles Schnurr said their permit files included expediting slips signed by Frank Cichelli, Trumbull county Democratic chairman.

COLUMBUS BIDS FOR SURPLUS FT. HAYES

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 29—Columbus was Ohio's first bidder today for acquisition of historical Fort Hayes, the state's No. 1 military landmark.

Mayor James Rhodes hoped to hear from Washington that the military reservation commissioned in 1864 to make shot ammunition might be awarded to the city of Columbus to ease the critical housing shortage here.

Rhodes followed up initial reports that the war department would abandon Fort Hayes and 54 other military installations throughout the county, by mentioning the post's valuable assets —water, electricity, sewers, streets and other utilities—to President Truman as things the capital city needs at once to relieve the housing problem.

Members of the Fifth Service Command, present administrators of the Buckeye state's processing center for civilian-soldiers of two World Wars, expected to hear momentarily that the base had been declared surplus and to receive stand-by orders until Fort Hayes actually is abandoned to the war assets administration.

From its one-building beginning, the 84-year-old installation grew from an outpost beyond Columbus' city limits to a formidable military encampment located almost downtown.

RESCUE CREW NEARS END OF MINE SEARCH

By The Associated Press

CENTRALIA, Ill., March 29—Tired rescue workers today neared the end of their hopeless search for survivors of last Tuesday's disastrous coal mine explosion which claimed an estimated 111 lives.

The mournful tolling of funeral church bells marked the deepest sorrow in the history of this community of 16,000 after rescue squads reported they had searched the mine's "dead end" — the only spot in the workings that might have provided a refuge for some of the trapped men — and found 12 bodies.

Early today two additional bodies were found. A short time later George Skinner Williamson, Centralia miner on the rescue detail's fresh air crew said two more had been located.

The grim discoveries brought to 96 the known dead in the explosion and left only 15 miners unaccounted for.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO MINE FAMILIES AT $10,000

By The Associated Press

CENTRALIA, Ill., March 29—A spontaneous contribution of material help to hundreds of survivors of the mine disaster dead in this southern Illinois area has grown to more than $10,000.

Donations of thousands of dollars and services, much of which are unsolicited, have poured in for grief stricken families of 111 miners dead or feared dead from an explosion in the Centralia Coal Co. Mine 5.

Radio Berlin Control Kept by Russians

By The Associated Press

BERLIN — The Russians have now established a series of strong radio stations to serve their zone of Germany but they still steadfastly refuse to yield to proposals by the other three occupying powers to give them a share in control of powerful Radio Berlin.

One of the Russians' arguments against an American proposal that Radio Berlin be placed under control of a four-power directorate was a plaint that they needed it to serve their zone of occupation, which surrounds Berlin.

The Russians took control of Radio Berlin when they were sole occupiers of the city and have refused to share it despite the fact the building which houses the station is located in what now is the British sector of the city. Transmitters for the station are located in the French sector.

It has been reported that the Russians have transferred from Radio Berlin substantial equipment and personnel to build up their zonal stations.

Canton Repository To Donate File Films

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., March 29—The Canton Repository, which observes its 132nd anniversary Sunday, announced today it is donating complete micro-film copies of its files since March 30, 1815, to four educational and historical institutions.

Recipients will be Canton public library, Mt. Union college at Alliance, the Ohio Archeological and Historical society at Columbus and the Western Reserve Historical society, Cleveland.

The record of the news since Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo required 50,000 feet of film, photographed eight pages to the foot to permit the largest magnification possible on modern film projection readers.

WALKOUT CLOSES TOLEDO REFINERY

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., March 29—Failure of labor and management to agree on procedure for proposed negotiation talks between representatives of the Pure Oil Co. and the CIO Oil Workers union precipitated a walkout which had closed the firm's Toledo refinery today.

With approximately 400 workers idle here and the threat that other Pure Oil employes in West Virginia and Texas would strike in sympathy, both Clyde Shamblen, chairman of the Pure Oil unit of Local 346, OWU, and company representatives showed little inclination to budge from previously announced stands.

Shamblen yesterday said the employes walked out because representatives of other OWU locals, under contract to Pure Oil, had been refused permission to sit in on negotiation talks originally scheduled here Monday.

David S. Frank, superintendent of the closed Toledo refinery, said he believed there was no difference between the company and employes on matters of wages, hours and working conditions.

SOFTBALL BANQUET BOOKED FOR APRIL 11

The Marion softball commission will hold its annual banquet at the Y. M. C. A. at 6:30 April 11.

Members of the teams that won city championships last season will be guests of the commission along with managers of teams in last season's leagues. Managers of teams new to the leagues are also invited.

Awards will be presented to last year's winners and an election will be held to fill four positions on the commission, which have expired.

Any team managers, expecting to make entry in the city softball wars, not present at the banquet should get in touch with Bob Minard, secretary of the commission, at the "Y."

Income Tax Relief For Vets Proposed

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 29—Rep. Dwight L. Rogers (D-Fla), proposed today that congress give special income tax relief to World War II veterans who receive no benefits under the GI "bill of rights."

Rogers, who piloted the terminal pay legislation through the last congress, estimated 75 per cent of the ex-servicemen get nothing under veterans aid laws, yet must help foot the tax bill for benefits received by the remaining 25 per cent.

Guy's Cagers Knock Feed Boys Out 41-34 in 'Y' Tilt

Guy's Raiders stopped McMillen Feeds 41 to 34 in Y. M. C. A. cage tournament semi-finals last night. In the last quarter Guy's stayed ahead by only a slim margin until the last few minutes. Making no effort to freeze the ball, they connected in rapid order as time was running out and the seven-point advantage enjoyed at the end of the tilt was the greatest lead of the game.

Bob Smith who hasn't been able to see much action with the Raiders this season, was probably their top performer last night, racking up 10 points. A number of pivot shots from the left corner by Busler of McMillen kept that teams hopes burning. He led scorers with 12 points.

Tonight the Raiders will play Kirkpatrick's Buckeyes in the finals. The Buckeyes have not been beaten in the tournament so if Guy's win tonight another game will have to be played next Monday.

The teams have met four times before splitting even.

BUCKEYES AHEAD AT SEATTLE SWIM MEET

By The Associated Press

SEATTLE, March 29 — Ohio State's great array of divers plus world champion freestyler Bill Smith moved the Buckeyes out in front last night at the close of the first day's competition in the National Collegiate AA swim meet.

One new record was salted down during yesterday's activity. George A. Hoogerhyde of Michigan State hung up a mark of 19:44 in the 1,500 meter marathon.

Other competition was wide of record caliber but new champions were crowned when Smith took the 220-yard freestyle to replace another Ohio Stater, Jack Hill; Richard Weinberg of Michigan ousted Robert Anderson of Stanford as 50-yard kind; and Harry Holiday of Michigan regained the 150-yard backstroke crown he won in 1943 and which was taken last year by R. Cowell of Navy.

Michigan, which was three points behind Ohio State as the day ended, took the 300-yard medley relay crown away from its neighbor, Michigan State.

The team scores as the second day of action began today were: Ohio State 28, Michigan 25, Stanford 16, Michigan State 10, Purdue 8, Yale 6, California 5, Washington and Northwestern 4, Rutgers and Nebraska 2.

TO MEET ON GRIDIRON

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, March 29—The Mt. Gilead High school Indians will meet the Cardington Pirates on the football field next fall it was announced this week by D. L. Musselman, superintendent of schools. The game is scheduled for Friday night, Nov. 14 at Cardington and gives the Indians a 10 game season.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 29—Johnny Evers, third of the famous Chicago Cubs of 1906-1910 to die within the past few months, probably will be remembered as long as baseball is played because he liked to go to bed at night. . . . On road trips, it was Evers' habit to retire early with some candy, a few newspapers and the baseball guide. As a result, he knew the rules forward and backward and he remembered them when the famous "Merkle play" came up. . . . In fact, Johnny had checked on that three weeks before when a Pittsburgh runner failed to touch second as the winning run scored. Hank O'Day was umpiring alone that day and didn't see the omission, but he said he would have called the runner out. It was Hank who did call Merkle out in the crucial game. . . . Incidentally F. P. Adams, whose celebrated verse has helped keep the names of Tinker, Evers and Chance fresh in the minds of fans, claims he wrote it because he was in a hurry to go to a ball game and the composing room foreman said he needed eight lines to fill a column.

Sports Before Your Eyes

Look for a lively basketball coaching duel to develop in the south next season between Alabama's Floyd Burdette and Auburn's Danny Doyle. Both were wartime cage stars at Oklahoma A. and M., when Floyd was an Army captain stationed there and Danny was pursuing his studies between pro baseball seasons. . . . Persh Rohrer of the Athens, O., Messenger calls attention to another one-armed high school basketballer. He's Cecil Bailey who, Persh says, can do more with one arm than most boys can with two.

Weekend Items

The Giants are planning to follow the Dodgers' example and hold clinics for local high school ball teams. . . . Probably looking for a club they can beat. . . . Murray Goodman, who lists drum beating for Al Schacht and for a golf club among his accomplishments, has been named tournament manager for the new world pro tennis league.

New Rod and Gun Club Meets at Marysville

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, March 29—First meeting of the newly organized Marysville Rod and Gun Club Wednesday night drew 38 interested hunters and fishermen who elected Richard Simpson, president; Horace Martin, vice president; Walter Rausch, treasurer; Gene Vollrath, secretary; and Archie Baker, Cliff Anderson, and Francis Davis, trustees. Plnas for the construction of an artificial lake near this city were discussed.

GALION INFANT DIES

GALION, March 29—Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the Volk funeral home for John W. Cotton, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cotton of 941 Fairview avenue. The one-day-old baby died Thursday at City hospital where he was born. Burial was made in Fairview cemetery.

Colorful Tribe May Spring Surprise

TUCSON, Ariz.—The Cleveland Indians, loaded with color, Bob Feller and a great double-play combination, could be the surprise of the American League in 1947.

Sixth place finishers last season, the Indians must certainly be reckoned as a strong first division threat on the potential of Strikeout Bob and the addition of Joe (Flash) Gordon, from the New York Yankees.

Gordon's work at second base with Shortstop-Manager Lou Boudreau has been a revelation to Cleveland scribes this spring. The Flash, in perhaps the best shape of his career, is out to show up the Yankee management. He's been tagging the ball hard, as well as sparkling afield.

Feller, as always, has been conditioning slowly and taking quite a few exhibition game bumps on the mound. But he did the same last spring, then went on to 26 wins against 15 defeats and hung up a new strikeout mark of 348 in the regular season. So nobody's worried about Rapid Robert.

Pitching—Outside Feller, fair.
Catching—good

Boudreau, his managerial burden lightened by the addition of wily Bill McKechnie, former Cincinnati chief, looks better than ever. His performance should spark the Tribe to many close victories during the summer

The rest of the infield, with Ken Keltner, apparently back to his prewar form, at third, and young slugger Eddie Robinson at first base, appears the equal of anything in the circuit. Robinson hits a long ball, and if he connects often enough is a cinch to become a Tribal fixture.

Outfield Is Uncertain

JOE GORDON
In Top Condition

Uncertainty pocks the outfield, particularly since Hank Edwards, the team's only .300 batter in 1946, suffered a shoulder injury. With Edwards probably out until after the campaign opens, Boudreau has indicated he will start a trio of Pat Seery in right, rookie Dale Mitchell in center, and either Hal Peck, ex-Philadelphia A, or Howie Moss, up from Baltimore where he hit 38 homers, in left.

Seery has had the benefit of special coaching by Rogers Hornsby, and may come into his own as a leading slugger this season. The Little Rock barrel hit 26 home runs while batting .225 and striking out 107 times last year.

Mitchell is regarded as a fine prospect despite a so-so spring showing. In case he falters, holdover Felix Mackiewicz will step in. Ex-Giant Johnny Rucker also is available.

Behind the plate, the Indians seem solidly set, with Jimmy Hegan, generally regarded as the league's classiest fielding backstop, No. 1, and the veteran Al Lopez, obtained from Pittsburgh, as No. 2. Every game that Lopez catches sets a new major league record. He holds the all-time mark of 1,861 contests caught.

Lopez Helps Pitchers

McKechnie and Lopez are expected to be prime factors in developing the pitching help Feller must have if the Indians are to become a serious contender.

Other starting flingers besides Feller include Red Embree and Steve Gromek, both disappointments last year, and another ex-Yankee, Al Gettel. The veterans Mel Harder, starting his 20th season with the Tribe, and Roger Wolff, obtained from Washington, are counted on as weekend stoppers.

A couple of rookie southpaws, Gene Bearden from Oakland and Les Willis from Memphis, appear ready for major action. Bearden may become a starter, while Willis, a control expert, may be the head of the relief corps, which is sure to include Bob Lemon and Jittery Joe Berry.

Other chuckers fighting for places include Righthanders Don Black, Ray Poat, Bryan Stephens, Eddie Klieman and Ray Flanigan and Lefty Bob Kuzava.

Bockman Called Comer

For utility duty, Catcher Ralph Weigel and Infielders Les Fleming, Jack Conway and Eddie Bockman probably will be retained. Bockman is regarded by many as a coming star and will keep Keltner hopping at third.

Owner Bill Veeck, the man who injected color into the drab Cleveland picture, is not satisified with turnstile clicks alone. He wants a winner.

He probably doesn't have it this year. But the Indians—building steadily for the future—figure to come up a notch or two in the standings.

Y.M.C.A. PLANS BIG VACATION PROGRAM FOR SMALLER FRY

High School Volleyball, Gra-Y Swimming Cards Set, Begininng Monday.

An extensive program in physical education for school boys of all ages is planned during the spring vacation by the Y.M.C.A. The high school and junior school Hi-Y clubs will have volleyball tournaments and the grade school Gra-Y boys are to have a swimming meet.

The volleyball tourney, which will be a double elimination, starts Monday and will continue through Friday. The high school teams will be active starting at 1:30 p. m. and junior high school will play at 10:30 a. m.

Swimming events carded are 70-foot free style, back stroke, and breast stroke; 140-foot back stroke and free style, and a 140-foot free style relay. In the other planned relay swimmers will do 70-feet free style and 70-back stroke. Seventy foot races are twice the length of the Y's pool.

The swimming event will start Thursday morning and will be wound up either that afternoon or the following day.

Gap at Shortstop Likely To Halt Cubs in Flag Race

LOS ANGELES — Charley Grimm's Chicago Cubs, seldom out of the first division, will probably be there or thereabouts again this year.

But, say the sharp-eyed forecasters, there won't be a pennant in the breeze at Wrigley Field unless something is done about the shortstop situation, and another pitcher or two is uncovered. Otherwise the club looks swell.

Bobby Sturgeon has been tabbed by Grimm as the answer to the Cubs' shortfield dilemma, now going into its ninth year. If the young man can maintain his form of late 1946, when he hit .96, he might be at that.

The shortstop experiment this spring has involved as well as Sturgeon, Coach Bill Jurges, Len Merullo and Ace Parker, the old footballer. None of the candidates has sparkled, and a trade may yet be swung before the season opens.

Borowy Hurling Ace

As for pitching, the Cubs figure to have an ace again in Hank Borowy, who has appeared great in all starts this spring. Borowy won only 12 last year after hitting the 20-game circle in 1945 when the Cubs won the flag.

The absence for possibly a half season of Claude Passeau, convalescing after a back operation, may be compensated for by rookies Doyle Lade, righthander from Shreveport, and southpaw Cliff Chambers, Los Angeles.

Other regular starters will be Lefty Johnny Schmitz and Righthander Hank Wyse. The rest of the mound staff will come from Paul Erickson, Bob Chipman, Bill Lee, Emil Kush, Russ Bauers, Bob McCall, Russ Meers, Russ Meyer and Red Adams.

Catching veterans Clyde McCollough, Mickey Livingston and Bob Scheffing are returning.

Infield Has Class

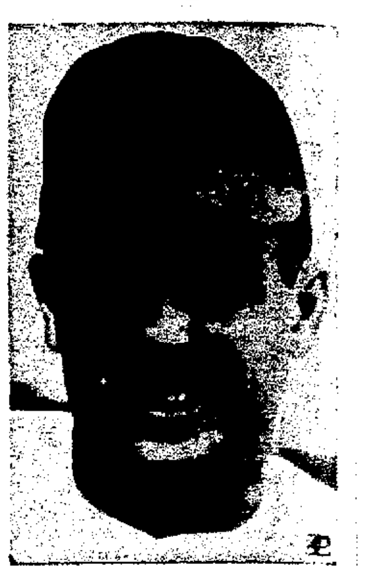
Shortstop aside, the infield has class. Eddie Waitkus at first was the National league's outstanding newcomer last year. Don Johnson at second and Stan Hack at third are steady performers probably good for more than 100 games apiece, although hampered by spring ailments.



BOB STURGEON
Best of Shortpatch Crop

With Jurges and promising young Henry Schenz around, infield utility is no problem, and Grimm always can bring Phil Cavarretta in from the outfield to fill in at first, if anthing should happen to Waitkus, and Harry Lowrey to third base for Hack.

The Cub skipper, however, would prefer to keep Cavarretta and Lowrey in the garden, flanking Andy Pafko, in what might well be the best outfield in the majors this season.

GIL DODDS IN 22ND STRAIGHT TRACK WIN

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 29 — Gil Dodds, the rambling reverend from Boston, had the 22nd straight track victory of a four-year span tucked under his belt today—but he was forced to share the limelight of the seventh annual Knights of Columbus indoor meet with two other stars.

Hurdlin' Harrison Dillard, the ebony speedster who put Baldwin-Wallace college on the track map, and ex-paratrooper Dick Morcom of New Hampshire university also grabbed honors in the indoor meet before a record crowd of 11,485 fans at the arena last night to share the spotlight with Dodds.

Notching his 10th straight triumph this year and his 22nd consecutive victory since 1943, Boston's Galloping Gil clipped two-tenth second from the meet mark he estabilshed here in 1943 in the universe bulletin one-mile run.

A last-lap surge carried Dodds to the finish tape 150 feet ahead of Quentin Brelsford of Ohio Wesleyan university, national intercollegiate cross-country champion. The Flying Parson completed the mile in 4:08.5, compared with his four-year-old K. of C. record of 4:08.7.

Dillard, undefeated in 1947 and one of the country's top contenders for the 1948 Olympics team, swept through the 45-yard high and low hurdles with easy victories, topping the low barriers in :05.3 and the high timbers in :06.8.

Cy Young Party Today Biggest Thing Since 1913 Flood

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor

NEWCOMERSTOWN, O., March 29 — This is Cy Young's day in this Tuscarawas county village, and baseball's greats along with his neighbors from the surrounding hill country were ready to pay him homage.

Old Cy — his real name is Denton True Young, but he's inscribed in baseball's Hall of Fame as Denton Tecumseh Young —is 80 years old today, and the folks are throwing the goldangest party for him this section has ever seen.

Waite Hoyt, "Sad Sam" Jones, Herb Pennock and Bill Veeck are only a few of baseball's ambassadors who will convene tonight at a banquet in honor of the gangling farm kid who left the "knob" country 57 years ago to set the national pastime fans agog with his pitching wizardy.

Town Isn't Big Enough

The town just isn't big enough to hold all the folks at one banquet, so they're splitting up a steer raised by old Cy and serving it at five different spots. After the meal, some 800 admirers of the noted flinger of another day will convene at the high school auditorium to hear the speeches.

Certain to get plenty of attention from the orators are the aged "Cyclone's" records on the diamond — his three no-hit games in the majors, his 22 years of service, with 15 in a row over the .500 mark in games won and lost, his five seasons when he won over 30 games, his 511 victories against 315 losses, his 2,832 strikeouts, his two victories in the first World Series, and his salary which never eased over the $2,500 a year mark.

Cy, first pitcher to get into the Hall of Fame, probably will tell a few tales of his own, in the familiar drawl which Ohio hill folk know so well.

Those who have heard him spin his yarns around the barber shop since he hung up his glove after losing a 1912 game by 1 to 0 to a rookie named Grover Cleveland Alexander, hope he tells the tale of the first World Series.

Cy recalls that the series opened at Boston, with Pittsburgh winning two of three, and then moved to the Pennsylvania city.

"Our secretary-treasurer failed to get off the train at Pittsburgh," the famed moundsman declares, "and he didn't get back until the series was over. So, on the days that Bill Dinneen pitched, I'd stay on the gate and see that we got our share of the receipts. When I pitched, Bill would handle the tickets and cash."

The four - score - year - old "youngster" also recalls vividly a Cleveland-Louisville game in the 90's, "in which the teams were tied in the seventh when Cleveland filled the bases with none out. Three gamblers, Young says, were sitting behind the catcher, and they called to the umpire who sauntered over.

Revolver Backs Threat

"If Louisville loses this game, there won't be enough left of you to worry about," Cy says one of the gamblers told the arbiter, producing a "foot long" revolver as he said it.

"The umpire," Young relates, "walked right out to home plate, and although the sun was still high in the sky, called the game on account of darkness. Our boys didn't like it, and told the umpire so with some rather choice words. In fact, the words were so choice, and so loud, that five of the Cleveland team were arrested and fined $500 each by a Louisville judge, and $500 fines in those days were really something, since they took about a fourth of a year's pay."

Yes, if the imported talent can match old Cy's yarns, it looks like his party will be the biggest thing that's hit these parts since the 1913 flood.

Condition of Crash Victims Improving

The condition of Miss Claire Louise Kraatz of 355 Mt. Vernon avenue and Mrs. Florence Schuler of 370 Mark street, who were injured in an auto accident Thursday morning in which John L. Creviston of 285 South High street was killed, is reported to be improving at City hospital. Miss Kraatz suffered a fractured right lower leg and head and body bruises, and Mrs. Schuler suffered bruises of the left arm, shoulder and face and rib fractures.

The accident occurred at West Columbia and South Prospect streets when the automobile in which the three were riding was struck by a heavy-loaded trailer.

Texan Cage Scoring King Has 725 Points

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 29—Flipping 255 field goals and 215 free throws through the net in 33 games, Clift McNeely, of Texas Wesleyan, won the 1947 national intercollegiate individual high scoring basketball face with 725 points. This is 82 points more than the 643 with which Bob Kurland, of the Oklahoma Aggies, won the title a year ago, and 133 more than the 592 Vince Hanson, of Washington State, scored in taking the 1945 crown.

Native of Bucyrus Dies at Napoleon Home

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, March 29—Funeral services will be conducted here Monday afternoon for Maurice Elden McMichael, 40, native of Bucyrus, who died at his home in Napoleon, O., Thursday. Burial will be made in Oakwood cemetery.

Death was caused by a stroke of apoplexy and Mr. McMichael was found by his wife when she returned home from work at 5 o'clock.

Mr. McMichael was born in Whetstone township June 6, 1906, the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. McMichael.

Mr. McMichael had been associated with the Gleaner Life Insurance company for four years.

Yanks Sad To Scribes but Manager Loves 'Em

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The Yankees look like a sad ball club to the New York scribes who have followed them on their junket of exhibition games in Puerto Rico, Venezuela and Havana, yet Manager Stanley (Bucky) Harris feels that his charges have a good chance in the American league pennant fight.

"We are much better off than Joe McCarthy was when he had the club last year at this time," says the Boy Wonder of 1924 whose Senators beat the Giants in the World Series that year.

Thumbnail Preview

"The only thing that worries me is Joe DiMaggio's heel.

"They tell me DiMaggio's second operation to remove bone spur in his heel has been a success and that he'll open the season in center field on April 14. If he does then we'll be in there battling. Joe means a lot to the Yankees.

Henrich on First

"My first base problem is solved. Tommy Henrich definitely will be on first with the veteran George McQuinn in reserve."

Henrich, an outfielder, batted only .251 in 150 games last season but the Yanks hope he will climb back to his level of 1941 when he hit 31 home runs. Though he has been a Yankee since 1937, Henrich is only 31.

Harris hoped to get James (Mickey) Vernon, the American league batting champion, in a deal with Washington but Clark Griffith refused to listen to offers that ran as high as $150,000. Thus, Henrich will be on first. Apparently the Yanks have given up on Nick Etten, who hit only .232 last year and whose fielding this spring was on the poor side.

BOBBY BROWN
Holds Down Third

"We have more pitching than last year," says Harris in answer to those who claim the New Yorkers will have trouble finishing in the first division.

Five Starting Pitchers

"Spud Chandler, rookie Don Johnson, Randy Gumpert, Floyd Bevens and Allie Reynolds look like the five starters with Karl Drews, Frank Hiller, Al Lyons, Mel Queen, Frank Shea and Charley Wensloff on the staff.

"You will notice there's not one left hander among them. Marius Russo might come back if he permits Dr. Mal Stevens to shoot novocaine in his left arm when he pitches. Russo has a calcium deposit and shots in the arm might be the only thing to help him.

Four other left handers are in camp but two of them, Mal Mallette and Bill Wright, are young and lack experience, Harris feels. Joe Page fails to live up to expectations and Tommy Byrne lacks control.

Aaron Robinson, one of five left-handed batters the Yankees will use often this spring, is the No. 1 catcher with Ken Silvestri and Gus Niarhos assisting. The other portside swingers are Charley Keller, Henrich, Larry Berra and Bobby Brown.

Brown, the rookie who signed for a $35,000 bonus last spring, will hold down third with Bill Johnson as insurance. Johnson, World Series hero of 1943, appears off timing at bat and will have a hard time getting Brown off the hot corner. Phil Rizzuto will be back at short with George (Snuffy) Stirnweiss on second.

The Bronx Bombers will have Charley Keller back in left with either DiMaggio or Johnny Lindell in center and Larry (Yogi) Berra in right. Berra, a 21-year-old rookie, hit .364 in seven games as a Yank last fall after compiling a .314 mark in 77 games with Newark.

Three Top Newcomers

While the Yanks have three fine rookies in Pitcher Lon Johnson, Brown and Berra, without DiMaggio the Harrismen might be lucky to finish third even though they did it last season without one .300 hitter on the roster.

The 20 victories racked up by Chandler, the 101 runs batted in by Keller despite his .275 average and Robinson's .297 paced the once mighty Yanks last year.

Two Cities Visited By Pleasant Twp. Group

The junior and senior home economics girls of Pleasant township school took an educational tour to Columbus and Cincinnati last week. They visited the state hospital and penitentiary at Columbus, the Kroger Food Foundation, department stores, Radio Station WLW, the Union Depot and other places of interest at Cincinnati. ## SLEEPY TENDENCIES RULE STOCK MARKET

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 29—Stock market leaders generally slipped a shade or did nothing in today's session which was one of the slowest of the past six months.

Sleepy tendencies ruled from the start. Declines of fractions to a point or so predominated near the close. Transfers contracted to around 300,000 shares for the two hours

In the hesitant division were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Woolworth, Public Service of N J, Goodyear, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, Du Pont and Eastman Kodak. Numerous pivotals were unchanged or never appeared on the ticker tape

An early bulge in grain futures failed to stimulate the share section.

Be in your own home this summer.

New Houses will be higher this year

I have just returned from a vacation in Texas and Old Mexico—on my way down and back I looked at several hundred new houses under construction—talked to dozens of builders, lumber and building material men. They all tell me houses will be higher this year due to higher costs of building material and labor.
I am again offering the Universal double houses on Fish Ave. at the same price, $11,000—that is only $5,500 per unit for a good strictly modern home with garage. $2,000 down—small monthly payments—There are no better buys anywhere today than these well built homes, either for investment or for a home. # LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

Dr. Twitchell waited for a second before answering Mary's excited question, and I guessed that he was purposely simulating deliberation in order to make his capitulation more impressive, and that he instantly had decided to humor her request.

"Providing you follow my instructions, and those of your aunt, I see no reason why you cannot study the lines you wish for an hour," he said at last. "Then, if there are no unfavorable reactions, you may study for a longer time tomorrow."

"Oh, Dr. Twitchell!" she gasped, and for an instant I thought she was going to leap out of bed and give the elderly rotund physician an exuberant embrace and kisses.

"I never can thank you enough!" she declared. "And you'll see how good I can be! Just tell me what you want me to do."

Dr. Twitchell put the fingers of one hand against those of the other, and appeared to marshall his instructions into line.

"First," he said, "the hot bath as I instructed; then the supper—whichever you wish when you are through with your bath, although if you are going to work at your lines, you really ought—"

Usual Extravance

"I'll eat a roast ox if I may have an hour's study of those lines!" she exclaimed with her usual extravagance.

"Well," Dr. Twitchell drawled with twinkling eyes, "that would be a hard order, even for the Lansfield, to fill on short notice. And you still have a temperature. So I think we'll stick to the original prescription—orange juice, soft-boiled eggs, toast, jam, and plenty of hot tea.

"And then," the physican said, "you may study your lines for an hour.

Mary's eyes were suddenly appealing.

"Just one thing more, Dr. Twitchell," she said. "May I be alone when I study my lines?"

Eyes Wary

The old physician's eyes were suddenly wary.

"I cannot risk your fainting again," he said. "One person must be in the room with you, but you may choose that person."

His voice was inexorable, and Mary hesitated for only an instant before yielding to it.

"Of course, I choose Auntie Madge," she said, flashing an enchanting smile at me, and I felt my own wariness stir. I knew Mary's fascinating wiles, and was sure she meant to try them on me when the time came for her to study her lines.

"A wise choice," Dr. Twitchell said. "And I will leave you to your aunt now. I shall have an enjoyable chat with your uncle and your husband until after you have finished your hour of study. Then I shall come in and take your temperature and your pulse, and give you the pellet I have prescribed."

He bowed and walked quickly from the room. Mary gave a quizzical look at his retreating back.

"He's really an old darling, you know," she said. "And now, I'm ready for all the treatments. I'm crazy to get at those lines!"

"I'll start your bath, slowly, and then telephone room service to send up your supper as soon as possible, an emergency order," I told her.

"Efficiency Edna!" she said, and then with an intonation that stirred my wariness again, she added: "I'm going to count on that quality a little later."
